

Park director looks over past 30 years

REVIEWING 30 YEARS as director of parks and recreation, Harold Brown examines documents related to the growth of the park district.

By LISA LUTZ
of the Press-Record

"All my life I wanted this job," said Director of Parks and Recreation Harold Brown, reviewing the nearly 30 years in which he has guided the development and progress of the Granite City Park System. "I have been fortunate enough to have had good park boards with which to work. If you don't have that, you don't have anything," he believes.

Brown has informed the park board of his intention to retire next spring. When he retires, he will have served the district for more than 30 years.

Brown had training in his field when he was drafted into the Army in 1942. He was assigned to a special service department in Florida, where he served as the recreational director for a hospital post.

Brown coordinated recreational activities for the hospital and secured USO (United Service Organization) entertainment for the staff and patients.

When he returned to Granite City after his discharge from the Army in 1946, there were no organized park softball leagues.

In 1952, Brown approached the board and asked for permission to coordinate nine area teams and be responsible for the coordination of these groups. Today, the park softball program has grown to some 106 teams.

Board members agreed to hire Brown as an athletic director on a part-time basis. He maintained this position until 1959, when he replaced the former director, combining the jobs of assistant director and director into one job.

"This has been my dream," said Brown. He believes that one of the reasons for his progress is his love of the work.

While speaking to classes at Southern Illinois University at both Carbondale and Edwardsville, Brown stresses the need for this dedication to the work. "I tell the students that if they are looking for a 9 to 5 job, or big money, and do not really love the work, get out of it," said Brown.

He also maintains that without the cooperation of a park board that understands the needs of the community, many of the accomplishments achieved during his career could not have been completed. "I did not do all these things

Fund outlook gloomy; end pre-school

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

With the financial outlook darkening, the Granite City Board of Education voted Tuesday night to end its pre-school program for four-year-olds.

Whether the soon-to-close Pre-School Center, formerly the Logan School Annex, can be utilized instead for an expanded Head Start program serving four-year-olds will be explored immediately by school administrators for possible fall implementation.

The current pre-school instruction, serving 111 children from six of the 13 grade school areas, was praised by all as being beneficial to youngsters. Lack of funds prompted Tuesday's final action on the twice-postponed decision to suspend it after the 1980-81 year. The negative action was taken despite parent and teacher requests this week to continue pre-school in 1981-82.

Assistant Supt. Frank Kraus said an up-to-date study of revenue prospects shows the district will receive $644,000 less federal funding next year and between $200,000 and $500,000 less state aid.

Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, said, "I genuinely regret the necessity for asking the board to approve discontinuation of the pre-school portion of our federal (Elementary and Secondary Education Act) Title I program as well as the nursing component. "At the same time, I am requesting board authorization to prepare the application for our 1981-82 grant providing for continued operation of the elementary school reading program at the six designated centers and the remedial reading program at Coolidge and Prather junior high schools, as well as the remedial mathematics program at Prather.

"The entire $400,000 budget provided in the application should be covered by the anticipated grant. Approval at this time will permit us to meet the June 1 deadline established by the state."

Supt. B. J. Davis said he concurs with Rea's "rationale for curtailment of services in Title I Pre-School," and recommended an affirming vote. Approving were George Moore, Thomas Miosky, David Partney and Robert Maxwell, with Donald Sucke dissenting. Monroe Worthen was absent, and new Alderman Stephen Saltich resigned from the board earlier Tuesday evening.

Davis commented that to continue remedial instruction—while eliminating the pre-school that he helped establish—is the best action available at this time. He added, "Following the recommendations that were presented to us at the last board meeting would do more harm to all programs than would curtailing the one program."

Parents had proposed keeping the pre-school, but in skeleton form, and reducing remedial instruction. About 20 parents attended Tuesday night to renew their request.

The Rev. Clayton Moorman of Faith Baptist Church again was the spokesman. He said he feels the latest administrative report was unfair in its approach and may have misinterpreted some of his suggestions.

Rea said the original administrative recommendation calls for serving 434 children at a first-year cost per pupil of $745.

Under the parents' Plan 1, the remedial program would serve 335 at a cost of $1,068 each, and under Plan 2 there would be 279 children at a cost of $1,177 each.

GC proposes occupancy permit, inspection fee in new law

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

It may soon be unlawful for anyone to move into a house or apartment in Granite City without first paying the city a $25 fee to inspect the property and a $5 fee for an occupancy permit, if the property is found to be free of defects. That is the intent of an ordinance distributed to the aldermen of Granite City at Tuesday night's meeting for consideration. A similar ordinance was presented to the council several years ago, but was never brought up for final passage due to opposition from several sectors of the community.

If the new ordinance is adopted, the city would have to appoint a building commissioner to administer the program and the mayor would have to appoint a new Board of Appeals to hear objections from citizens who disagree with the decisions of the building commissioner.

City officials said they believe City Inspector Tony Rusick would likely be named the building commissioner, so it would not be necessary to hire a new employee for the program.

The occupancy permit program would be similar to one in operation in Madison, Utility firms, including Illinois Power and Illinois-American

Water Co., would be prohibited from turning on the gas, water or electricity for the new occupants of any home or apartment until the new occupants (Continued on Page 6)

GC realtors oppose occupancy ordinance

"It is not government's function to tell people how many bedrooms and bathrooms to have in their home or how many windows. In a free society, if people want to buy or rent a particular unit, they should have this right, as far as we are concerned," Ray Kaegel, president of the Granite City Board of Realtors said yesterday after reviewing a proposed occupancy permit ordinance under consideration by Granite City.

Kaegel's public statement followed Wednesday's regular meeting of the board of realtors at Charlie's Restaurant. Speaking on the board's official position, Kaegel said, "Everybody on the board is opposed to it. We don't feel it is necessary." He said many realtors have dealt with similar ordinances in Madison and Alton and have found that the ordinances put unnecessary roadblocks in the way of sales.

Kaegel said he feels it is a legitimate (Continued on Page 19)

Single county union election

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

The Madison County Board voted 15-9 Wednesday to conduct a single collective bargaining election among county governmental employees Tuesday, June 16, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the County Courthouse.

An alternative plan defeated yesterday called for two elections, to decertify the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees union June 2 as a prelude to three June 16 ballot options—Teamsters, AFSCME or no union.

It was decided informally that the AFSCME by its own action already has abrogated any claim it might have to being the sole existing bargaining unit.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Smith favored a two-election approach, but doubt was voiced that decertification could be proposed without a specific petition to hold such a vote. The Teamsters have filed a petition seeking an election.

County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer successfully urged that the board decide without further delay so that the bargaining process for the 1981 fiscal year can proceed.

Board Member William Webb objected to allowing non-member "freelancers" to vote on union representation.

In other business, the County Board: Voted 14-10 to obtain competitive bids on removing the unused 1870-vintage jail and sheriff residence. Preservationists sought a one-month delay on the bid call.

Granted a seven percent pay raise to appointed officials and department heads, retroactive to Dec. 1.

Voted to ask an Illinois state study commission to review the funding of Madison County bus service, to make sure this area "gets our share" of transit fund apportionments being discussed by legislators. The action did not affect the present sales tax subsidy of bus routes in Madison County.

Decided to negotiate with the Special Service Area One sanitary sewer installation contractor on several problems associated with the project, rather than authorizing a lawsuit.

Approved reappointment of Fred Finck, Godfrey Republican, to the Board of Review. Hagnauer said he will make another appointment next month after further studying grand jury findings on assessment procedures.

Decided to replace tornado-damaged heating and air-conditioning equipment at the new county jail, even though Daniel Partney, a board member and sheet-metal contracting executive, urged repairs. An architectural study cited storm damage and potential other hidden problems in present mechanical equipment.

Storm damage repaired

The aftermath of the storm that swept through the Quad-City area early Monday morning is still being felt by many area residents.

Uprooted trees, fallen power lines, disabled transformers and wind-blown debris caused extensive damage and widespread power outages throughout the area.

Three mobile homes in Kaseberg Park were overturned, and many cars in that area were damaged by fallen trees. A woman was trapped inside of an overturned mobile home, but was rescued by the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department.

Pontoon Village Police were without power, but were supplied with a generator from the fire department so police radios could be operated. Grigsby Junior High School was closed Monday because it also was without electricity.

A tree was reported to have crashed into a house in Venice after being uprooted by the gusty winds.

Illinois Power Co. reported that at the peak of the storm (about 3 a.m. Monday) approximately 4,900 IP customers were without power.

Within four hours, 75 percent of the 4,900 who were affected, had power restored. By 3 p.m. Monday 300 people were still without electricity, mainly those whose homes are supplied with power by individual transformers.

AFTER THE STORM. The severe thunderstorm accompanied by high winds which ripped through the Quad-City area overturned and destroyed this mobile home at 76 Kaseberg Park in Pontoon Beach which, in turn damaged the mobile home at right.

Pinned in between is an auto which also was damaged. The storm ravaged the area early Monday morning, uprooting trees and blowing down power and telephone lines. There were no reported injuries caused by the storm.

Protest tax on Social Security

Senior aides of Belleville Area College are circulating petitions in protest to the taxation of Social Security benefits.

Petitions have been sent to all of the Senior Citizens Clubs in the Quad-Cities including the Granite City Township Senior Citizens hall, various labor organizations, all of the savings and loan associations and to nearly all of the banks in the area.

Local stores, teachers, host agencies and interested persons are picking up petitions at both Senior Aides offices to help secure signatures, a spokesman said.

The Granite City Senior Aides office is located in the basement of the old McKinley School at 22nd and Iowa, phone 876-3223.

The Madison Senior Aides office is at 406 Madison Ave., phone 876-8430.

Petitions are at both locations for signatures also, it was said.

Social Security provides a monthly payment to some 35 million beneficiaries, according to a statement issued last week.

Various bodies have recommended that the Social Security benefits be included in taxable income for federal income taxes, the statement said.

For the people affected, taxing the benefits would be tantamount to a cut in benefit payments, it said.

Twenty-five percent of the elderly (even with Social Security) are near or below the poverty level and all Americans are suffering from the effects of inflation. Fifty percent of all older women have median incomes below the poverty level. The average benefit to women receiving Social Security are only $2,216 per year, it added.

The overall income of the elderly has not kept pace with inflation and the cost of basic necessities such as fuel, food, and medical care has risen faster than the rate of inflation. The prospect of taxation of benefits has alarmed many older Americans and undermined the confidence of all Americans in the integrity of the Social Security Program, the statement added.

"Social Security benefits are and should remain free from federal taxation," it said.

Hospital Notes

Among the patients admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center last week were:

Friday, May 15—Bertha Mott, Earl Dodge, Shirley Busalacchi, Shirley LeMaster, Shawn Hoppe, all of Granite City; Ruth Alexander, Mitchell; Loren Wilhelm and Larry Scaggs, both of Madison.

Thursday, May 14—Tim Deubach, Suzanne Patterson, David Joseph, Edna Barnes, Donna Cox, James Holtz, Maggie Keel, Dennis Lienske, all of Granite City; and Kathy Waters, Madison.

Ballot probe ends in Nameoki

A Madison County grand jury has concluded that there is insufficient evidence to show that there was "criminal intent or knowledge" involved in election irregularities in Nameoki Township Precinct 8 in the April 7 election.

The grand jury said it found that 226 ballots were given out, although only 188 voters appeared at the precinct to vote.

"We find that the poll judges in that precinct gave out 38 ballots in excess of lawful authority and despite instructions to the contrary," the grand jury said in a report released May 14.

But it noted that the results of elections in Nameoki Township and Precinct 8 were not altered by the fact that some people received too many ballots.

The Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation is known to have probed the election in Precinct 8. Its information was turned over to the grand jury.

Although the case is now closed, Madison County assistant state's attorney Chuck Evers said he believes the state's attorney's office will insist that the judges in Precinct 8 not be used for the next election.

Evers said a procedure would be developed by State's Attorney Don Weber, County Clerk Evelyn Bowles and himself to prevent the same situation from occurring again.

Precincts 8 and 1 were located at the Long Lake Fire Department. Because part of Pontoon Beach is within the Nameoki Township corporate limits, Pontoon residents were given green ballots on which they could vote for both their village officials and Nameoki officials.

Residents of Nameoki Township not living in Pontoon Beach were given white ballots.

The double balloting allowed some persons to receive both a white and green ballot, thus giving them the opportunity to vote twice for Nameoki Township officials.

Evers said three election judges from Precinct 1 told investigators that a judge from Precinct 8 had attempted several times to get them to pass out two ballots; Evers said he personally had interviewed two of the Precinct 1 judges and that a DCI agent interviewed a third.

He said the judge from Precinct 8 denied any conversation with the Precinct 1 election judges concerning double balloting.

At the time there were many conflicting statements made to investigators.

The April 7 election was the first under Illinois' new election consolidation law.

Service held for Francis A. Mayer

Word has been received here of the death on April 28, 1981, of Francis A. "Buzz" Mayer, 66, a former resident of Granite City.

Mr. Mayer died at a hospital in Great Falls, Mont., following a lengthy illness.

He survived by his wife, a son and six daughters, including Mrs. Larry (Joyce) Kimball of Greenville, Ill., formerly of Granite City; several grandchildren; and many friends in the Quad-City area.

Funeral mass was said at St. Jude's Catholic Church in Havre, Mont., at 11 a.m. Friday, May 1.

Memorials may be contributed to the Dialysis Center, Columbus Hospital, Great Falls, Mont. 59405.

Marriages down, deaths increase

Births in Madison County during April declined, deaths increased and marriages dropped slightly as compared to those of the same month a year ago, according to a vital statistics report released by Evelyn Bowles, county clerk.

A total of 250 births was reported during the month; a reduction of 18 below the 268 reported in the same month last year. They included 151 boys and 119 girls, compared to 118 boys and 150 girls born in April 1980. Two sets of twins were born in April of each year.

The number of April deaths totaling 166, an increase of six over 159 reported last year.

There were 216 marriages last month, the report said, compared to 221 a year ago.

SHOT FIRED AT MAN

Terry Brent, 18, of 81 Grenzer Homes, Madison, said he was asleep in his apartment during the weekend when a man he knew entered, yelled at him, pointed a .32-caliber pistol at him and ordered him to go outside. Brent said he dressed rapidly and ran out the front door, but the man fired a shot at him anyway, missing him.

An exhibition of 32 vintage prints from the Hallmark Photographic Collection entitled, "Lewis Hine: Human Documents" will hang in the East Gallery of the Old Courthouse in St. Louis from May 21 through June 14. The gallery will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Mid-America Arts Alliance of Kansas City organized the exhibit. Lewis Wilkes Hine, born in Oshkosh, Wis. in 1874; began using the camera as an educational tool around 1904. His first project was the documentation of the Ellis Island immigrants. From this project on, Hine's interest in social issues dominated his life.

He photographed New York Tenement Housework for the National Child Labor Committee, slum conditions in Washington, D.C., sheet trades in Connecticut, glassmaking in New Jersey, cotton mills in Alabama, the oyster packing industry in Louisiana, and child labor conditions in many states and industries.

He became the most successful photographer of social welfare in the country, and his photographs are said to have had an important role in the reform of child labor laws in the United States. Hine died in 1940.

The king of wines, champagne, reigns not only with a character all its own, but with a retinue which includes its own vocabulary and even its own bottle sizes. Although sparkling wines can be produced anywhere, authentic champagne comes only from the Champagne region, 90 miles east of Paris. Many wines may bear its title, but none share its noble birth. When buying champagne, a knowledge of the language of the realm is helpful. For example, "demi-sec" on the label means sweet, "Sec" means medium sweet, "extra dry" means slightly sweet, "brut" means very dry. When speaking of quantity, the king is offered in the split (6 oz.), the 12 ounce half-bottle, the 26 ounce bottle, the resident $2 ounce magnum and the regal 104 ounce jeroboam. Regardless of his noble bearing, the king is a welcome guest in any household.

Boxcar damaged by fire

The Luria Brothers Co. was again the victim of fire damage last week, when a boxcar caught fire.

A workman was using a torch when a piece of hot metal apparently fell onto the floor of a wooden box car, firemen reported.

Employees were eating lunch when smoke was noticed, and workmen began extinguishing the fire. The fire was under control when firemen arrived.

Another fire, occurring at 2303 Kirkpatrick Homes last week, was apparently started while the occupant was smoking in bed. A mattress, headboard, clothing and the floor were damaged.

An estimated $300 damage was incurred at the home of Hugh Allen, 1516 Clark St., Monday when grease on the kitchen stove overheated and caught fire.

The fire was under control when firemen arrived.

Food shortages still a concern

With recent record grain crops in the United States and relatively good weather in many parts of the world, much of the concern over world food shortages has faded.

But it shouldn't have, warns an agricultural economist at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Walter J. Wills, professor of agribusiness economics in the STUC School of Agriculture, says population in lesser developed countries (LDCs) of the world has continued to outstrip food production.

Wills also notes that as the U.S. seeks to increase its marketing of farm goods overseas the problems facing these nations will become increasingly important to U.S. farmers.

In addition, the U.S. government will face difficult decisions on food reserves export policies, grain price supports and the relationships these topics have to other nations.

"Population growth in the LDCs is about 2.4 percent per year," Wills said. "It is estimated that by 2000 these countries will have about 92 percent of the world's population growth. Even now, some 75 percent of the total world population is in these countries."

The food shortage in the LDCs is real, Wills points out. Just the grain shortage in the LDCs is expected to exceed 120 million tons by 1990.

Standing in the way of easing the shortage — which creates widespread malnutrition — are such problems as distribution, money, to buy food, educational support in teaching nutritional concepts and a lack of adequate food reserves in the nations, Wills said.

Many LDCs that already have stretched credit to the brink of default may be forced into restructuring their debt, Wills said.

For the United States, faced with its own debts for energy and other imports, questions are raised about the nation's ability to underwrite food production for the world.

Food reserves will be necessary, but in the past, the United States has shouldered much of the burden in keeping and financing world food reserves, sometimes at the expense of U.S. farmers because the large supplies depressed prices.

If other nations are to assume some of the load U.S. officials will have to work with many nations on details of a new world food reserve. Questions as to the size of the reserve, who will finance it, where it will be, how the foods in it will be released and whether it remains in government or private hands will have to be answered.

Sabo elected to Explorer office

Kevin M. Sabo, 19, of Granite City, was elected national explorer vice-president for the Boy Scouts of America at the National Explorer Presidents' Congress held in Indianapolis, Ind., last week. As a national vice-president Sabo is responsible for the exploring program received by over 60,000 Explorers in the 12 states within the North Central region.

Sabo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold (Nancy) Sabo, 21 Wilson Park Drive, is a junior in college. After attending Southern Illinois University at Carbondale for two years he plans on transferring to SIU at Edwardsville to study government.

Sabo has been a cub scout, scoutmaster, and as a freshman in high school became a member of Explorer Post 10-33 chartered to the Granite City Police Department. He is a past treasurer, vice-president, and president of Post 10-33.

In 1978, he became the Explorer Presidents' association chairman for the Cahokia Mound Council and, in 1979, was elected as the area Explorer chairman for area Five of the North Central Region. Most recently Sabo has been working with the Egyptian Council in southern Illinois while attending classes in Carbondale. As a national Explorer vice-president, Sabo now becomes a member of the

Brock Hill will speak at Memorial Day services

Public Memorial Day services conducted by veterans' posts and auxiliaries at Lake View Memorial Gardens will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. Monday, May 25.

In keeping with the policy of the past several years that the featured speaker would be a youth of this area, this year's address will be delivered by Brock Hill, a graduating senior of Granite City High School South and winner of the 22nd District oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion.

He will speak on the subject, "Gettysburg Revisited."

Throughout his high school career, Hill has participated in oratorical contests, advancing to statewide competition, and has been involved in student government.

He has served as vice-president of the junior class and holds a degree of merit in the National Forensic League.

Also participating in the service will be the Black Knights drum and bugle corps, the Catholic War Veterans Butz-Jobe Post 370 rifle squad, the American Legion Post 58 color guard, Gold Star mothers and soloist Roy Guthrie.

George Ballard, past commander of American Legion Post 58, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The program will conclude with the president of Gold Star Mothers, Mrs. Evelyn Klopmeier, casting a wreath of white carnations on the waters of the lake in honor of those who gave their lives for their country.

As the wreath floats toward the setting sun, it will be saluted by three volleys from the rifle squad. When the color guard retires the national ensign, "Taps" will be played by Black Knights buglers.

A public address system and seating arrangements will be provided for the convenience of the public. All commanders and presidents will be invited to sit on the platform and be presented to the crowd.

The color guard extends over the lake. Many families spread blankets on the lawn and enjoy viewing the swans, ducks and fish while they are attending the program.

Jobs for youth offenders

Several job positions are open for youth offenders in the Quad-City area, according to Don Young, youth counselor for Operation Turnaround, a youth offender program.

Mrs. Shirley Wiemers of the youth department of the Office of Manpower, maintains operations for the program. It is designed to provide employment for economically disadvantaged youth offenders.

Jobs include grass cutting, trash pickup, and general cleanup of areas along highways and roadsides. The youths would be employed for a 20 hour work week, and would be paid $3.35 hourly.

Any youth offender, ages 14 through 20, must apply at the Job Service Office in the American Village Shopping Center, at the corner of Nameoki and Peeling roads. Jobs will be open for a 10 week period, beginning June 15 through Aug. 21.

Eligible persons are being advised to visit the Job Service office by appointment.

GC proposes

where the commissioner inspects the property and finds it in need of repairs, the owner, renter or seller would have to purchase a separate $5 temporary occupancy permit to allow electricity, gas and water to be turned on for a set period of time, for the repairs to be made. The building commissioner is to determine in advance the appropriate period of time required for the work and is to specify on the temporary occupancy permit the date it expires.

Then, once the repairs are completed, application would have to be made for a separate $5 occupancy permit and a $25 inspection fee would have to be paid before the new occupants could move into the property, if the ordinance is approved.

There are no apparent remedies for persons wishing to sell or rent properties which do not meet the ordinance's specifications for size or rooms or other structural specifications.

In order for a piece of property to be sold or rented, bedrooms must have at least 70 square feet of floor space for one person and 100 square feet for two persons, any floor containing two or more bedrooms must have a bathroom on that floor which can be reached from outside without passing through another bedroom, the ceilings of all habitable rooms must be at least seven feet, four inches high, except for attics and top-half stories, and basements may not contain bedrooms, unless there are adequate windows to ground level, they have toilets in the basements and they meet certain size and height requirements.

Houses and apartments having insufficient window areas would have to install additional windows before they could be rented or sold. The ordinance would require a minimum of 10 square feet of window area in each habitable room and the window area must equal, at least 10 percent of the floor space in each room.

All bathrooms must have an operable window or mechanical ventilation to the roof, the ordinance specifies.

There also are requirements for electrical service and outlets, adequate heating and water heating and garbage and refuse disposal.

The ordinance gives the building commissioner the authority to vacate or condemn structures found to be "unsafe, unhealthful or unsanitary," to the extent the commissioner believes "life or health is immediately endangered by the occupation of the dwelling unit." He may revoke the occupancy permit for any such structure and order the immediate evacuation of the structure by the occupants, until repairs are made.

If residences are not in compliance with the ordinance, the building commissioner is to give written notice to the person, responsible listing why the notice is being issued and stipulating a date by which the owner must bring the structure to be brought into compliance with the ordinance. It must specify what remedies are demanded, the ordinance stipulates.

Anyone served with such notice will have the right to apply for a hearing before the board of appeals, which will have to be established. That board is to consist of one appointed officer of a building construction company, one registered architect or engineer, one real estate broker, one officer of a bank or savings and loan and one citizen.

A 100 appeal fee would have to be posted before a hearing would be held and if the decision of the Board of Appeals is upheld or uncontested, the appeal fee would be forfeited. Only if the decision of the board is overturned in the courts, would the $100 fee be returned, according to the proposed ordinance.

If the board upholds the building commissioner's decisions, it may order the deficiency of any structure repaired, at the owner's expense, to be paid within 30 days of billing, or the collection is to be turned over to the city attorney.

If the council should approve the ordinance on final passage next Tuesday night, it would become effective in early June, as soon as it is published in pamphlet form, available to the public.

$1.6 million verdict against Tip Top Tavern

Possibly the largest verdict ever entered in an Illinois Dram Shop Act lawsuit was awarded Tuesday to a Gillespie, Ill., couple in a suit against the Tip Top Tavern, 18th and State streets, which is owned by William and Ester Finley.

A Madison County Circuit Court jury awarded $1,620,000 in personal damages to James and Helen Chronister, who were injured in a traffic accident on Interstate 55 on March 4, 1979, after their auto was struck from behind by the auto of a man who allegedly had been drinking earlier in the tavern.

Carl Bettorf of Edwardsville, the driver of the other car, admitted drinking about a dozen beers in the tavern before the accident. Bettorf pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of liquor, was fined $800 and was placed on one year of probation.

The Chronisters were represented by former Madison County Circuit Judge Victor Mosele, who said it was the first case he handled since being defeated in a bid for retention as a judge last November.

Mosele said that Mr. Chronister was 49 years old when the accident occurred and that the impact of his vehicle being struck from behind forced it off the highway and Chronister suffered "severe, permanent and crippling" injuries including damage to his head and eyes, severe cuts, broken ribs and a broken leg.

a spokesman for Illinois Power said, "More crews from other Illinois Power areas are called in to help."

Four power lines along State Aft Route 35 were reported down. Any fallen lines present a potential safety hazard and need to be reported to the power company.

Power outages included Venice,

North Granite City, Madison, and the Eagle Park area.

The American Red Cross offered assistance and sent representatives to Pontoon Beach Village Tuesday morning to survey damages. The Long Lake Volunteers Fire Department apparently had the situation under control and Red Cross assistance was declined.

In a 24 hour period, 2.66 inches of rain fell in the Quad-City Area. The National Weather Service had issued flood warnings to various areas.

No injury resulting from the storm were reported, and property damage should soon be repaired.

Haig address open to public

The Regional Commerce and Growth Association has organized a new Town Hall Forum, and U.S. Secretary of State Alexander Haig will be its first speaker. He will speak at a luncheon meeting at noon May 29 at Stouffer's Riverfront Towers. The meeting will be open to the public.

The Town Hall Forum has been formed to provide a public platform for understanding local, national and international leaders to speak on major contemporary issues. Tickets for the first Town Hall Forum will cost $12 each and may be obtained by sending a check to RCGA, 10 Broadway, St. Louis 63102.

THEFT AFTER STORM

Robert Jackson, 48 Briarwood Lane, told police Monday that after Sunday night's windstorm blew away his metal storage shed, someone stole a $200 bicycle and a tool box containing mechanic's tools from where the shed had been.

FREDBIRD THE REDBIRD, the mascot of the St. Louis Baseball Cardinals, visited Glik's Department Store in Belleville Village Shopping Center during the weekend to greet the young and old alike. Amidst his fans, Fredbird modestly signed hundreds of pictures of himself for his fans.

PURSE SNATCHING

A boy about 16 to 17 stole the purse of Etta Zimbelmann, 3303 Kirkpatrick Homes, while she was getting her son out of her car Monday. She said she put the purse on top of the car to assist her son from the rear seat when the teenager grabbed the purse and ran south on Nameoki Road. The purse contained approximately $200 in cash, her driver's license and other papers. The boy was described as having long blond hair and wearing a blue shirt and blue jeans.

GC Steel project to mean more jobs here

Possibly 300 construction jobs may be created immediately at Granite City Steel, according to John Ubaudi of the Southern Illinois Building Trade Council.

At a public hearing last week, IEPA officials decided to issue a preliminary permit to Granite City Steel for the renovation of the "B" battery of the mill's coke oven.

Permission from the Illinois Pollution Control Board is still needed, as the mill's "A" battery will not meet pollution standards during the construction of the "B" battery.

As a result, the company will have to obtain a variance from the Illinois Pollution Control Board on Battery "A" during the renovation period.

A hearing with the IPCB will be held at 10 a.m. June 4, at the Glen Carbon Village Hall.

Last January, Granite City Steel and U.S. EPA entered into a consent decree, specifying a compliance program which would meet the existing requirements for a major pollutant source area in a nonattainment area (an area which exceeds national ambient pollution standards).

The decree is now pending in court, and it must be accepted by the court before the construction permit may be issued.

Ubaudi also indicated that he believes Granite City Steel is aware of the problems in the community, and has made every effort to correct them.

CAMERA IS TAKEN
An instant camera is the only thing known missing after a burglary at the home of Mary Pendley, 1805 Market St., Madison, late last week. A door was kicked in to gain entry and a bedroom was ransacked. The front door was left open after the burglary. The camera later was found in a yard in the 1800 block of Sixth Street, Madison.

Opera Theatre to host conference

The Central Opera Service of the Metropolitan Opera National Council will bring leading professionals in the field to St. Louis from all over the United States for a June conference hosted by Opera Theatre of Saint Louis.

The conference, entitled "Gateway to Opera: The Regional Companies," will be held at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel from June 10 to June 12.

American regional companies have come into the national limelight in the last few years, as audience sizes and numbers of performances have doubled, according to Richard Gaddes, general director of the Opera Theatre.

The 200 conference delegates will examine the artistic and financial implications of this growth, using Opera Theatre of St. Louis as a model for study of the problems and successes of regional companies, he explained.

"We are delighted to welcome the Central Opera Service to St. Louis," Gaddes said. "It is an honor for us to have been chosen by COS as an example for other young companies."

"Prudent management and financial planning are crucial, especially in the light of announced cuts in federal support for the arts, and a conference of opera professionals could not come at a better time."

Special luncheon guest speaker at the "Gateway to Opera" conference will be Dr. Jonathan Miller, who is widely known in the U.S. as producer of the BBC series of Shakespeare plays on WNET.

Miller will make his U.S. debut directing "Così fan Tutte" for Opera Theatre of Saint Louis in 1982.

Other conference participants include Robert Jacobson, editor-in-chief of Opera News magazine, and general directors of opera companies from Miami to Seattle.

A special session for opera board members—the first such meeting to be held on the national level—will be moderated by Robert L. B. Tobin of the Metropolitan Opera Association.

Death was by natural causes

A coroner's jury in Granite City has ruled that Earl Browning, 58, of 1918 Fourth St., Madison, died of natural causes April 27.

Mr. Browning had been fishing with friends on Horseshoe Lake near Bend Road when he walked away from the others and was found minutes later lying partially in the water on a tire.

He was conscious and said he did not need medical attention. He was taken to a neighbor's house where he took a bath. During the bath, he died and was without signs of life when an ambulance arrived.

The men with him consented to polygraph tests and all passed, the coroner's jury was told. The autopsy showed that he died of respiratory failure, complicated by a heart ailment. There were no signs of foul play, the jury determined.

Charge 2 women

Tammy N. Garrison, 17, Alton, and Sandra K. Hammond, 19, Wood River, were charged by Granite City police Monday afternoon with deceptive practices and theft in connection with the theft of a purse and the alleged false use of identification from that purse Friday.

Associate Judge Clayton Williams released both women on $4,000 recognizance bonds (which do not require the posting of cash) at 3:35 p.m. Monday. It alleged the two women stole a purse from a parked car in the 3200 block of Nameoki Road, Friday evening and used identification from the purse to attempt to obtain a check-cashing card at another store where they were arrested. They were charged with the misdemeanors after the Madison County state's attorney's office reviewed the evidence Monday.

Trash pickup delay next week

There will be no trash pickup on Memorial Day, Monday, May 25, in Granite City, it was announced this week by Jim Walla, SCA Services district manager.

Monday's collection will be made Tuesday, May 26, with the ensuing days also one day later than usual other than Friday.

Thursday and Friday's routes will be combined on Friday, with pickups starting at 6 a.m., Walla said.

Also next week, trucks will not return on a route for late set-outs, he advised.

CLEVELAND BURGLARY
A $125 television set, $50 in cash and a $50 state income tax refund check, a shotgun, a jewelry box and jewelry and a canister set were stolen during a burglary at the apartment of Carmen Johnson, 1708 Cleveland Blvd., discovered Monday.

Entry was gained by breaking a front window and the south door was left open after the burglary. The apartment was ransacked.

STEAL TELEVISION
A television set worth $100 was stolen from the home of Mary Brown, 601 W. Third St., Madison, late last week and the burglar left the rear door open. Entry was apparently gained by cutting the screen in a window.

REACT to operate holiday 'safety break'

The Free Spirit React Team (Radio Emergency Associated Citizens' Team) of Granite City will start its fifth year of highway safety breaks on the Memorial Day weekend starting Friday, May 22 at 4 p.m. and ending Monday, May 25 at 4 p.m.

The 'Free Spirits React Team' has held highway safety breaks each major holiday weekend since 1976, providing free coffee, lemonade, tea, cookies, and highway safety literature. Located at the intersection of Interstate 270 and Route 111, in Mitchell, the React organization has served more than 20,000 free cups of coffee to drivers of foreign countries and most of the fifty states.

Memorial Day weekend, the Free Spirits React Team will be cooperating in Operation Care (Combined Accident Reduction Effort). The operation is designed to reduce the number of accidents on major holiday weekends.

Motorists are encouraged to exercise extreme caution while traveling this weekend and to observe all traffic laws to arrive at their destinations safely.

The Free Spirits React Team is inviting everyone to stop by Route 111 and Interstate 270 for "free refreshments and some friendly conversation" according to a club spokesman.

Coleman heads new historical group

Ronald Coleman of Granite City was elected president of the newly formed Old Six Mile Historical Society during the group's organizational meeting Monday evening in the Granite City Township Hall.

Approximately 35 persons attended the first public meeting and ratified a constitution which calls for the club to preserve local history by promoting and establishing a museum, encouraging historical research of this area and preserving records and other items of historical interest.

Other officers elected were vice-president, John Fornaszewski; treasurer, Waldo Frohberg; recording secretary, Darlene Kahn, and corresponding secretary, Rosalie Stearn. Elected to the board of directors were Georgia Engleke, Barbara Williams, Norman Holinger, Marguerite Lexow, Milton Morris and Henry Bienenickl. It was decided that the society should concern itself with the history of Granite City, Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships.

A representative of the Illinois State Historical Society was the guest and discussed the formation and goals of such societies. Information given to the group by the speaker will be included in the by-laws, which are to be approved at the society's next meeting June 1.

Coleman noted after the meeting, "We had a good turnout. They showed a lot of interest and I think we have a good board and officers. I am looking for bigger and better things in the future."

Collinsville to admit 'outside' students to vocational center

By ED GURNEY
The Unit 10 school board Monday voted in favor of allowing non-member districts to send some students to the Area Vocational Center.

The proposal needs the approval of two-thirds of the nine participating districts to become effective.

The proposal was developed because of requests made by the Madison School District to send students to the center.

Under the guidelines, Madison would be able to send students if there are openings after the school year begins. Member school districts would not lose their slots in the vocational classes, Unit 10 Superintendent John Renfro.

The Area Vocational Center is located at Collinsville High School's Greenwood campus. Unit 10 is the administrative district.

Board members William Jokers and Tom Jenkins voted against the proposal, which got a 4-2 favorable vote. The seventh board member, Joseph Kurta, was absent.

The participating districts have been "encouraged rather directly" by the state Board of Education to allow non-participating districts to send some students. Renfro said. Other vocational centers in the state have similar arrangements.

The superintendent said Madison applied several years ago to be a full member. However, that district is not in the geographic area set up to be served by the vocational school in Collinsville, and it has not been accepted.

Jokers was concerned Monday that allowing students from non-member districts to come might lead to allowing additional outsiders, thus eliminating slots for member districts.

"I don't see us losing anything as a result of approving this," Renfro said. Member districts have until the beginning of the school year to enroll their allotted number of students, he said.

Director of Business Affairs Jerry Vandenberg said the additional students would actually cause tuition charges to the member districts to decrease slightly by spreading the costs around more.

Renfro said that some areas of the state seek additional students for their vocational centers. The center at Collinsville has been near its capacity in enrollment for several years, however, and does not have that problem, the superintendent said.

Jokers questioned why Madison does not seek membership in the Area Vocational Center at Alton, which he said has more space. Renfro said Madison declined to join the Alton center.

Passenger takes cash from cabbie

About $30 in cash was stolen from Fred H. Werner, a Granite City cab driver, at 11:40 p.m. Monday by a passenger he was transporting from Granite City to Madison.

Werner told Madison police he was dispatched to pick up a fare to the 2600 block of Nameoki Road, where a man wearing a black jacket and levis with bushy black hair got into his cab.

On Edwardsville Road, the man directed Werner to drive into an alley at the rear of the 1900 block and asked the cab driver if he could change a $20 bill.

The college, however, started to hand him the change, the passenger grabbed the money out of the driver's hand and ran toward a service station at Edwardsville Road and McCambridge Avenue. He then ran north on McCambridge. Madison police were told. A search of the area failed to locate the thief.

BAC registration for summer term through June 3

Registration for summer courses at Belleville Area College is open through June 3. Classes begin Monday, June 8.

Students may register from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday at the college's main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

BAC will be closed Monday, May 25, in observance of Memorial Day.

When Werner started to hand him the change, the passenger grabbed the money out of the driver's hand and ran toward a service station at Edwardsville Road and McCambridge Avenue. He then ran north on McCambridge. Madison police were told. A search of the area failed to locate the thief.

convenience of students. Increasing enrollments have led BAC officials to believe service to the students is more important than the previous concern with energy savings, which was the reason for the experimental Friday closings the past several years.

Late registration for summer classes will be taken one through 12. A $5 late fee will be charged.

When Werner started to hand him the change, the passenger grabbed the money out of the driver's hand and ran toward a service station at Edwardsville Road and McCambridge Avenue. He then ran north on McCambridge. Madison police were told. A search of the area failed to locate the thief.

What infuses more meaning into life than a leaving of it. The loss of life gives the living pause to reflect on the vast possibilities and joys that remain. One must be careful not to unnecessarily extend mourning. Instead, mortality should be a reminder that life is a finite privilege. To use this privilege wisely and to its utmost potential, ought to be the goal of anyone who has lost a loved one. Death passes with the swiftness of a rainstorm. Afterward, the sun will shed the joy of living upon those who remain. It is their responsibility to grow from the tears and ensuing light.

One faces the realities of life with varying emotions. At MERCER, THOMAS AND SEDLACK MORTUARIES we offer the physical surroundings, professional services and varied approaches to meeting the overall needs of every one of our friends. In your hour of need allow us to shed a little "light" that may prove to be a source of comfort and guidance as the shadows of time pass. At MERCER, THOMAS AND SEDLACK MORTUARIES we are dedicated to serving the needs of our community with understanding, empathy and concern.

by myself," Brown commented.

"Recreation needs to be designed so the whole family can be a part of it," Brown said in explaining his philosophy of recreation.

"I smile when I see the children whose parents were involved in athletic programs when those programs first started," Brown commented in recalling some satisfying moments of his service.

"I am proud of everything. The parks have become one of the mainstays of the community."

Brown plans to "take it easy" when he and his wife, Shirley, move to Wright City, Mo., upon his retirement. He has offered to be a consultant to the park board there, should they want his experienced opinion.

"I may drive to Granite City, and just walk through the park," said Brown. "I don't believe you can work at a job for 30 years, leave it and not miss it," he concluded.

Budget cuts to hit Venice

The city of Venice may be facing financial problems as Illinois officials attempt to set up the state's budget.

In the effort, many smaller governmental bodies will be affected. "This is going to leave us in dire straits," Mayor Tyrone Echols told the Venice City Council at Tuesday night's meeting.

As a result of spending limitations, Venice will lose all manpower employees. Services, such as grass cutting for the elderly, may be eliminated, as the street department will have less manpower with which to work.

Echols asked the council to consider sending a representative to Springfield, so that needs of the community may be made known. "We may not feel the effects (of the budget cuts) now, but two or three months from now, we will," Echols told the council.

Echols also asked the aldermen to consider bids for new police cars as the old ones are in constant need of repair. "We are always calling on the police, and we cannot expect them to do their job in those horse and buggies," Echols commented.

He also noted that the city will attempt to fix holes and ruts in the city streets, apparently caused by utilities digging holes for various reasons.

"We need to get more forceful about this," Echols commented. "No one is going to dig up the streets without first going through the street department," he concluded.

An effort to determine who is responsible for various sections of damaged streets, and encourage those parties to make repairs will be made.

Firemen have selected four of their colleagues to attend the Illinois Fire College in Champaign-Urbana, June 4. The council agreed to allow the men to use the fire department's van for transportation.

Graduate grant forms available

Application forms for the 1982-83 competition for grants for graduate study or research abroad (Fulbright-Hays) are now available in the Graduate School Office at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The purpose of the grants is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge and skills. The grants are provided under the terms of the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961 (Fulbright-Hays Act) and by foreign governments, universities and private donors.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens at the time of application, who will generally hold a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, will be proficient in the language of the host country. Except for certain specific awards, candidates may not hold the Ph.D. at the time of application. Candidates for 1982-83 are ineligible for a grant to a country if they have been doing graduate work or conducting research in that country for six months or more during the academic year 1981-82.

Creative performing artists are not required to have a bachelor's degree but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Social work applicants must have at least two years of professional experience after the Master of Social Work degree; candidates in medicine must have an MD at the time of application. Forms and other information may be obtained from Floyd Coleman, Fulbright Program advisor, Room 225, John S. Rendleman Building, on the University campus. The deadline for filing applications at SIUE is Oct. 12, 1981.

Housing authority answers charges of discrimination

By ED GURNEY

Officials of the Madison County Housing Authority are describing as unfounded statements by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development that the authority appears to be discriminating against blacks and is segregating the races in its housing units.

Authority Executive Director Janet Harolan said she would ask HUD by letter for "support and justification" of some of the allegations made in its April 30 letter. "Some of these questions are a little bit hard to answer (because of vagueness)," authority board member Richard Hunter of Glen Carbon said Thursday night.

The letter came after an inspection tour about two weeks ago by three staff members of HUD's regional office in Chicago. Mrs. Harolan declined to make available to the press a copy of the HUD letter until she had drafted the authority's response.

According to Mrs. Harolan, the HUD letter pointed out that three of the authority's four projects for the elderly are 100 percent white and that the fourth, the May Building in Edwardsville, is 90 percent white.

The letter also stated that only nine percent of the residents in the authority's Section 8 program (subsidized housing units in various parts of the county) are black. Mrs. Harolan said. In addition, HUD said it appeared the projects were not maintained as well as the white majority projects.

The letter also stated there are several reasons she questions the inspection by HUD's regional office and the letter that followed. "One, she said, is that the area office of HUD (below the regional office in the organizational structure) had just made a similar inspection and found no similar problems, even though it was given the same information."

A second reason is that the regional HUD inspectors gave no indication at an end-of-the-tour meeting that there were any problems, the executive director said. Mrs. Harolan said authority officials do not know why more blacks do not apply to live in the elderly projects. She adamantly stated it is not because efforts are not made to tell them that the projects are available.

Some elderly blacks apparently apply to live in regular family units because they want to stay in the areas where they have relatives.

It also is uncertain why more blacks do not apply to the Section 8 program, Harolan said.

However, she noted that in the Section 8 program an applicant must find a housing unit that meets certain minimum standards. It is simpler to apply for residency in the conventional housing projects.

Mrs. Harolan believes it is unfair to compare the maintenance of the black majority and white majority projects. The predominantly white projects are for the elderly and, for that reason, are not going to meet the maintenance of family units, which are mostly black.

In addition, residents at the family projects are responsible for taking care of their yards while the elderly do not have responsibility for the grounds at their projects. Mrs. Harolan said HUD pointed out the need for electrical and sewer system improvements at the black majority projects. Mrs. Harolan said the authority has requested funds for those improvements, but has been told by HUD that energy related improvements have first priority.

Mrs. Harolan said she doesn't think the letter would have been sent if the inspection had come after the adoption of a revised statement of policy by the board of commissioners. The statement was adopted last week.

Part of the policy involve a point system for determining admissions. Under the old system, more point were given to applicants who were veterans. Most of those veterans were not members of minorities.

The ultimate penalty HUD can seek to impose on the housing authority, if the questions are not resolved, is to cut back on the federal subsidy. "We don't want that to happen," Mrs. Harolan said. "We want to work things out with them."

Arch summer hours to begin

The Museum of Westward Expansion located underground at the Gateway Arch will reduce its summer operating hours this year, according to National Park Service Supt. Jerry Schober. Beginning this Sunday, May 24, the museum will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. This nine-hour operating schedule is in contrast to the 14-hour schedule maintained in previous summers.

Schober cited inflationary costs which more than offset moderate budget increases for the memorial. Other portions of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial will function on a schedule similar to last summer.

Effective May 24, the tram to the top of the Arch will operate from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. The visitor center and theater at the Arch will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and the Old Courthouse will be open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

All the facilities are open seven days a week. MARINE RE-ENLISTS Marine Cpl. Napoleon Melton, son of Henrie Melton, 21 Grenier Homes, Madison, has re-enlisted for four years while serving with the 2nd Light Anti-Aircraft Missile Battalion, Marine Corps Air Station, Yuma, Ariz.

GC Council unanimously approves townhouses

Despite objections from numerous persons in the audience and a petition bearing nearly 100 signatures of persons in objection, the Granite City Council voted unanimously Tuesday evening to grant R-5 multi-family zoning to property at 27th, Adams and Center streets for construction of 10 townhouse apartments. Alderman Margaret Nomm was the only member of the council absent from the meeting.

The council also received a petition from approximately 100 area residents in favor of the townhouses.

A neighbor of the proposed townhouses, Ray Sparks, presented the council with a petition of nearly 100 signatures opposing the project and said the neighbors are concerned about reduced property values, inadequate parking and further complication of drainage problems in the neighborhood.

He said most of the residents of that neighborhood live in single-family homes and have resided there 20 to 30 years. They have taken good care of their homes and the neighborhoods, Sparks told the aldermen. "This can only make their values go down," he contended. He noted the plans for the townhouses call for only one parking space on the property for each living quarter and said that since most families now have two cars, the excess cars will have to park on the streets. He said drainage was a concern, since during Sunday night's heavy rain, "I had water up to my front door. I wouldn't mind a duplex or two duplexes on the lot, but apartments would be too much," Sparks contended.

He also objected to plans to open an alley which has been closed, fearing additional traffic through the alley into the townhouses.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward assured Sparks that building permits for the structure will not be issued by the city until there are assurances of proper drainage, sewers and parking.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer noted that the townhouses would be located on slightly over one-half acre and there should be adequate storm and sanitary sewers to handle the runoff. Brewer admitted, "I do not think you're going to find an area of town that does not flood occasionally, but I do not think these apartments will cause a significant problem."

Mrs. Brenda Phillips of the realty firm involved in the development presented the council a petition bearing approximately 100 signatures of area residents in favor of the project. Objectors contended the signatures were obtained primarily from apartment dwellers in the area.

Mrs. Phillips noted that the city's Plan Commission studied the plans May 14 and unanimously endorsed the townhouses.

She said the townhouses would be supported entirely by the rents and said there are no government subsidies or programs involved in the building or occupancy of the project.

Alderman Paul Fisk of the Third Ward noted that the city has, in the past, denied rezoning only to have the petitioners take the city to court and have the courts order the city to allow the projects. He asked City Attorney John Papa what the cost would be to fight such an appeal in court and Papa said there would be costs involved, particularly high if the fight went to the appellate court.

Mayor Paul Schuler noted that 10 yes votes (two-thirds of the council) were required to approve the rezoning, since more than 20 percent of the surrounding neighbors were on record as in opposition.

On a motion by Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward, seconded by Alderman Sharon Perjak of the same ward, the aldermen present voted 13-0 in favor of the rezoning.

Later in the meeting, Alderman Paul Fisk expressed his distrust about petitions. He said he has been fooled in the past by petitions which were "a sham," and stated, "I don't believe a petition spells the story out all the time."

His remarks were in response to a Press-Record editorial criticizing the council for ignoring 600 signatures on a petition opposing rezoning of property on Missouri Avenue (old Route 3) for a scrap reclamation operation south of the Shasta plant.

The council May 5 granted heavy industrial rezoning for that plant, despite petitions and objections in the audience. The Press-Record criticized the council for not giving the objectors more time to research the project and make their feelings known. Fisk said he seeks, "A little more fairness and give us credit for a little more sense."

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward, who opposed the rezoning for the scrap reclamation yard, said simply, "When you cast your vote on this council and you feel good afterward, it's got to be right."

Mayor Paul Schuler added, "Each alderman and myself voted his or her convictions and I don't think there should be any aspersions cast on the vote."

Graduates at Blackburn

Mike Novachich, the son of Mrs. Alice Novachich, 1501 Joy Ave., received a Bachelor of Arts degree during the 121th Commencement ceremonies held on the Blackburn College campus at Carlinville last week.

Blackburn College is a small, private Liberal Arts College located 45 miles south of Springfield, Ill. Students help pay for their room and board by participating in the college's work program by donating 15 hours of work a week toward the operation of the college.

The entire physical plan of the college is run by the students, from cooking the meals and building facilities, to clerical and secretarial work, thereby keeping operational costs to a minimum. As a result, the cost of tuition remains one of the lowest in the country for a private educational institution.

Mary Jenkins, 904 Jackson St., Madison, reported at 12:25 p.m. Tuesday that her tan colored clutch purse, containing $150 cash, $92 in food stamps and identification cards, was stolen while she was shopping at National Food store in Granite City.

Storm ravages Quad-City area

Press-Record Photos
by
Pat Foley

UPROOTED TREES AND DOWNED POWER LINES

were a common sight Monday throughout the Quad-Cities after a severe thunderstorm swept through the area early Monday morning. At 3 a.m. the wind began to uproot trees and blow down the power lines as torrential rains flooded many streets and damaged homes and vehicles. A total of 2.66 inches of rain was recorded for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. Monday, with an inch of rain falling during a one-hour span. Clockwise, from top left: An uprooted pin oak lies across the auto of George Mathenia, 3025 Edgewood Ave., which also damaged his home and a neighbor's home; part of the wooden wall screening the coke ovens of Granite City Steel along Edwardsville Road hangs precariously, damaged by the high winds; a mobile home which was overturned and destroyed on Kaseberg Park in Pontoon Beach; the roof of Red's Truck Service, 3007 Edwardsville Road east of Nameoki Road, lies on top of several trucks which were damaged; a pickup truck and auto damaged in the 2800 block of Edwards Street by a huge tree which was broke off near ground level by the high winds which accompanied the thunderstorm; and a picturesque scene of reflections at the flooded intersection of Dawn and Vine avenues. Many trees blocked streets throughout the area and many neighborhoods were flooded as most of the lift stations were flooded out almost immediately and crews of the city street department, Illinois Power and Illinois Bell were out in full force after the initial storm in an attempt to restore service and clear blocked streets.

Fund outlook

received from the various buildings indicate a preference for funding reduction by elimination of pre-school.

It was indicated from a junior high source that all of the children in Title I at that level are served as the result of an identified need, which is not true of pre-school.

"An elementary school source said it would be preferable to reduce the number of schools served, even if it meant their own school would no longer be served by pre-school, rather than reduce the number of elementary reading teachers.

"Alternatives suggested in Rev. Moorman's proposal would destroy the effectiveness of two major parts of our present program.

"Elimination of pre-school will permit us to preserve the elementary reading program and other portions of Title I in a form which will effectively serve the needs of children in the Title I schools. This will continue the stability of the program which has contributed significantly to its past effectiveness.

"Staff support for the original recommendation was overwhelming. It was approved by the district-wide Parent Advisory Council by a vote of 15 to 3 of the members attending."

Supt. Davis said he believes parents would have been at the board meeting to defend remedial instruction if it was being altered.

Shirley Stoll, president of Federation of Teachers Local 743, said 10 of 12 teachers in Title I—consulted last Thursday—favored submitting two alternate proposals.

The two were outlined to the board by a pre-school teacher, Emalou Boyer, who said the first would eliminate two junior high teachers, two full-time pre-school aides and the pre-school building and custodian.

The second proposal would curtail about one-third of existing Title I programs, including a junior high instructor, two elementary reading teachers, a pre-school teacher and two full-time aides.

Supt. Davis said the proposals were received at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday and failed to go through normal channels from the faculty to Title I Director Ruth Lahr and then Rea and himself. He added that pre-school has been in jeopardy since March and that mid-May timing of detailed alternative proposals is inappropriate.

Mrs. Stoll said the procedures and "last-minute" timing resulted from misunderstandings and were not intentional. Davis responded that motives of one party should not be rationalized while motives of another party are challenged.

Rev. Moorman said a 1980 study, "Young Children Grow Up," by Lawrence J. Schweikart and David P. Weikart found that pre-schoolers when they complete high school are found to like school better, progress faster and cause fewer problems than those who did not attend pre-school.

The study found that basic intelligence was not altered but that those with pre-school help became stronger, more independent and more ambitious students.

Rev. Moorman also cited a Ypsilanti Perry pre-school "lifetime" project which found that children aided by pre-school scored higher on reading, arithmetic and language achievement tests at all grade levels, attaining a full grade advantage by age 15. Other Ypsilanti Perry findings:

—Only 19 percent of pre-schoolers were placed in special classes, as against 39 percent who lacked pre-school.

—There was less anti-social behavior in school and outside of school.

—Pre-school costs saved special education costs and the expense of other special services, and also provided savings for society in the form of lower delinquency rates.

—There are projections of higher high school completion rates, greater employment, less tendency to utilize welfare, and lower arrest frequency.

The pastor concluded by urging retention of pre-school if at all possible. He said his May 5 suggestions were intended to stimulate study by the school staff to develop alternatives, rather than to be adopted as submitted.

Mrs. Stoll urged viewing of a film on the topic.

Mrs. Boyer said she feels some junior high school completion rates, greater employment, less tendency to utilize welfare, and lower arrest frequency.

A junior high school teacher suggested scheduling of hour-long rather than half-hour remedial classes but Rea cited a federal requirement that the program "supplement rather than supplant" existing school classes.

Some in the audience indicated their belief that junior high remedial instruction is not proving to be effective. Rea said that while prevention of problems is better than remediation—a point made by Mrs. Boyer—a high turnover in enrollment at Title I schools means that many who obtain remedial help here were not Granite City residents when of pre-school age.

He added that the fifth day in pre-school teachers' weekly schedule is used for necessary testing, conferences and work with individual students.

Partney said the Head Start pre-school that is operated by Madison County—with federal funds that are not being cut—rents classroom space at Central Christian Church here as well as office space in Alton.

At Partney's suggestion, with other board members agreeing, Acting President Moore directed the administration to confer with Head Start officials on the possibility of utilizing the school system's Title I pre-school facilities.

Hope was expressed that if Head Start is able to save rental costs, it might be able to accommodate more Granite City children than the 80 it is scheduled to serve next fall.

Mrs. Boyer said local pre-school teachers have master degrees and operate in conformity with the Illinois

School Code, in contrast to the qualifications and methods of Head Start instruct that selection standards defining eligible children differ, and that some in Head Start are three-year-olds. Different constituencies are served, even among the four-year-olds, making it hard for one program to substitute for the other, she told the board.

Miofsky commented that both types of pre-school have advantages and disadvantages and that the school district is not describing Head Start as superior to the program offered by the district.

Mrs. Stoll verified that while School Board members have visited the Title I pre-school, no board members present had seen Head Start pre-school classes in operation.

Mrs. Lahr expressed familiarity with Head Start, saying she serves on its county advisory board. Two groups are served daily, each being fed a meal and a snack, she said.

Research discussed at the board meeting showed that 28 of the Title I pre-schoolers have greater ability than the targeted group and technically do not need pre-school, but that all benefit.

Supt. Davis said that with present financial prospects, continuation of pre-school—by using local funds to underwrite shrinking federal allocations—would harm every other school program.

He added that while pre-school is the topic under consideration this spring, it may prove necessary to reduce or end other school services.

Miofsky told parents at the meeting that elimination of programs is distasteful to board members, and that closing of three grade schools two years ago also had been a difficult decision.

Supt. Davis said the district's pre-school is "excellent" and that he would not recommend its closing unless closing was essential.

Maxwell stressed the comprehensive nature of administrators' review of cost-cutting options and voiced faith in their judgment.

Partney said he resided for 22 years in the West Granite City area, where the pre-school center is located, adding that he nevertheless feels its continuation in the face of federal cutbacks would be unfair to all neighborhoods of the district, including West Granite.

Board policy calls for it to utilize locally-derived tax funds for programs that serve all grades and all geographic areas, in contrast to federal programs that can be earmarked to benefit certain areas or families determined to be in financial need.

A discussion brought out that while there is no correlation between wealth and educational ability, many families in middle-income neighborhoods can afford to send their four-year-olds to pre-school centers that charge tuition, while poorer families cannot.

Kindergarten, for five-year-olds boys and girls, originally was an optional offering but for many years has been a mandated part of school services.

Road improvements may be linked to tax hike

Granite City officials may be going to back a state effort to increase gasoline taxes for better state roads, but would like a promise from the state that Nameoki Road and Missouri Avenue (old Route 3) will be resurfaced or improved in return for the city's support, it was indicated at Tuesday night's Granite City Council meeting.

Referring to a movement in the state legislature to increase funding to the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) through higher gasoline taxes or other tax formula, Mayor Paul Schuler stated,

"We have them in a bit of a fix asking for more money for IDOT. Also Nameoki Road needs repairs. We will try to get them both done."

Discussion of the condition of state routes through the city came after correspondence from IDOT indicated it would pay the city $1,429 this year to maintain Missouri Avenue.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer explained that Missouri Avenue was built under a state bond program which called for the state to build the road as Route 3 and for the city to maintain it with funds provided by the state.

The funding formula in that agreement would allow the city only $1,429 to maintain the road this year, including pothole repairs, curbing, snow removal, salt and other costs, which is inadequate, Brewer said.

The state moved Route 3 to the old Route 151 just west of Missouri Avenue and has been attempting to give the old Route 3 roadway to the city, but state law says that the roadway must be in good condition or the city does not have to accept ownership of it.

City officials indicated they would be willing to accept all of Missouri Avenue to where it joins the new Route 3, but only if the state resurfaces it first.

Brewer noted the condition of Nameoki Road also is deteriorating and said "The state has had it on their list to resurface three years from now for the last five years."

He noted that IDOT has asked for the city's support for a gasoline tax increase and paraphrased the mayor's earlier statement, saying, "Maybe something can be worked out."

ARREST 'CYCLIST'

Called to 21st and Nash streets on a report that an accident had occurred at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday, an officer failed to discover the mishap but did find Franklin Medlin, 28, of 3016 Ash Ave., allegedly standing by a motorcycle in an intoxicated condition.

Medlin was charged with driving while intoxicated, violation of classification and not having a valid registration.

Myths believed by young create problems for aged

(This is the twelfth in a series of fifteen articles exploring "The Nation's Health." In this article, Carroll L. Estes, director of the Aging Health Policy Center at the University of California, San Francisco, discusses social and economic conditions that contribute to health problems for the aged. Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.)

America is rapidly becoming an aging society. One in every nine Americans today is 65 years of age or older. In the past decade, the death rate among people over 65 fell 14 percent.

If death rates remain unchanged, our aged population will grow from its present 22 million to 32 million by the year 2000.

Many of us regard this aging trend with some alarm. We tend to conceive of aging as a biologically determined process of inevitable physical and mental decline.

As a result, we often view the elderly as different from the rest of us.

We stereotype them as unproductive, dependent people who require high-cost services to cope with their circumstances.

Such perceptions of aging and the aged are grossly inaccurate. Public policies as well as individual behaviors that flow from such false notions do great damage to the aged and can adversely affect their health.

Our perceptions and policies define old people as a major social problem. But, in fact, it is society's treatment of old people that is the primary problem.

Our behavior toward the old converts a chronological process and biological state into a social problem.

What then, are the realities of aging?

What can social science tell us about factors that will affect our health as we get older. And what can a better understanding of these factors contribute to a healthier tomorrow?

BIOLOGICAL VS. SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Social science research tells us that chronological aging creates no dramatic changes in personality or behavior — assuming one is able to maintain reasonable continuity in health, lifestyle, and social support. The old are a heterogeneous lot, and there is no single pattern of aging. There are biological changes with aging. But many of these are aggravated by illness and the stresses imposed as we grow older.

Mental deterioration with age is not inevitable, nor does it occur in most cases.

Old age is accompanied by a greater burden of chronic illness, disability and activity limitation than youth or middle age, but these problems are not unique to old age.

The role and status of the aged are determined more by our perceptions and misperceptions, and the policies that flow from these — such as mandatory retirement and the economic dependency it creates — than by the aging process itself.

The major tribulations of old age are: a dramatic reduction in income (from 40 to 50 percent); decreased power and social standing; the threat of economic and social dependency; and the increasing probability of suffering chronic illness.

The elderly must cope with these problems precisely when they have lost the support of loved ones through death or through moving away from a familiar environment.

For minority aged, for women (who live an average of seven years longer than men and are more often alone), and of those who have been chronically poor, these problems are most severe.

Poverty and economic dependence are the elderly's greatest problems.

One in three older persons — a total of eight million — is poor or near poor, according to federal classifications. Nearly one-fourth of the aged survive on incomes in the $3,000 range if single and on $2,000 or less for couples.

After paying for housing, medicine and other necessities, four to five million older Americans have only about $1.66 per day left for food.

Poverty has a devastating effect on health.

The life stresses associated with poverty and the social burdens that poverty imposes are a continuous threat to the health and well-being of the poor.

The consequences of poverty for health status reveal themselves in higher rates of disabling illness, mental illness, and institutionalization.

Other social, environmental, and behavioral factors also are significantly related to disease patterns, and society's most disadvantaged carry a greater burden of chronic illness than do others.

This is especially true for the aged, for whom poverty is often associated with a loss of vital family and social networks.

Social science has found that support provided by family and close friends is as important as health-related behavior, such as exercise, in promoting health and well-being.

Such people provide necessary, continuing care and help the elderly to avoid institutionalization.

The role of social factors in institutionalization is shown in nursing home statistics.

Only eight percent of residents are married with a living spouse; almost 50 percent have no living spouse or children; more than 80 percent are below poverty level; and an estimated 30 to 60 percent could be living in the community if they had adequate economic and social support.

Also important in terms of health is the link between self-esteem and biological decline in old age.

Negative myths about the old — that they are senile, useless, and sexless — have a force of their own.

Psychologists and sociologists have coined terms like "the looking glass self" and "the self-fulfilling prophecy" to describe how what others think of us dramatically affects what we think of ourselves.

INADEQUATE SERVICES

Most of our social and recreational services for the aged serve only a limited number of the elderly.

Although the most important program for the aged, Social Security, rescues more than half of old people from poverty, it leaves another third poor and many dependent on means-tested Supplementary Security Income and food stamps.

Medicare assures adequate access to medical care for millions of the elderly. But it covers primarily acute hospital and physicians' care, not the continuous care needed for pervasive chronic conditions and for assistance in daily living.

For the poorest of the aged, Medicaid provides some additional benefits, primarily for prescription drugs, physicians' bills, and nursing home costs.

Yet, almost 50 percent of the poor are not eligible for Medicaid because of differences in eligibility standards from state to state.

Government policies and research on aging focus primarily on studying, treating, or changing the "faulty" individual — approaching old age as if its problems were created entirely by the old themselves.

Biomedical in emphasis, the government approach to old age reflects the power of medical interests, our faith in technical solutions for social problems, and society's misperception of aging as an inevitable, purely biological process of decline.

It does little to distinguish between what is physical and what is social in old age, or what is irreversible and what is reversible or preventable.

We forget or ignore the research that substantiates that non-medical factors, such as income, housing and stress — factors over which the health care system has no control — create or exacerbate many of the problems of the elderly and account for most of the mortality and morbidity in all ages.

Even senility, long considered part of physical decline in old age, occurs for less than six percent and is often due to drugs, loss of social support, and depression, rather than irreversible organic changes in the brain.

Current approaches that ignore the role of social and economic factors in the health of the elderly are, therefore, unlikely to improve the experience of being old for most Americans.

An abundance of damaging stereotypes requires a revision of our thinking to accord with the reality of old age and the aging process.

We also need policy and research agendas that take account of the growing importance of social and economic factors for the health of the aged.

Policies based on the facts, rather than on the myths that dominate our thinking, will contribute substantially to the health of older Americans.

Rousseau-Cason

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rousseau

Floyd Taylor marks 91 years

Floyd Taylor, 2331 E. 23rd St., was surprised to receive a birthday card from President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan for his 91st on May 14, 1981. This pleasant surprise had been arranged by his grandson, David Strotheide, residing in Richardson, Texas, with his wife, Emily.

Mr. Taylor is a loyal Cardinal baseball fan. His hobbies are mowing the lawn for his neighbor and himself, with the old-fashioned, push-type mower and in the winter, shoveling snow from the steps and walks for both houses. He retired in 1959 from his own Ice and Coal business, according to a family spokesman.

His three children are Mrs. Arthur (Helen) LaVelle, Granite City; Ralph Taylor, Alexandria, Va.; and Mrs. Sid (LaVonne) Strotheide, of Collinsville.

Mr. Taylor has 12 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

A quiet day was spent with members of the family and the Cardinal game, from Houston, completed this day.

At Scott alone, civilians make up over one-third of the 10,000 employees.

News notes

Gov. James R. Thompson on Monday released copies of his federal and Illinois tax returns showing income change in his net worth in the past year. He and his wife earned $57,013 and paid $7,131 in 1980 federal income taxes and $13,263 in state income taxes.

Madison County State's Attorney Donald Weber alleged this week that Terry Francis, a member of the Board of Review, represented Fredman Brothers Furniture Co. of Edwardsville, Paul Riley, attorney for Francis, said his client never represented Fredman before the review board while a board member. Weber said no law was violated, and that the review board's decision was "the prime mover" in improving the board's efficiency in reviewing property values.

The Illinois House voted 133-9 Wednesday to strengthen the state's open meetings law. It earlier voted 124-30 to make false votes of children subject to the death penalty. The House this week decided not to require that children be strapped into car seats to protect them in collisions. It approved 111-31 raising initial driver licenses and learner permits from $8 to $20. And it voted 105-49 to add new fines which would be used to help victims of violent crimes.

Schnucks Markets have installed mills to freshly grind coffee in each store.

A new U.S. Environmental Agency report urges upgrading of a non-hazardous dumping area, the Chouteau Island south landfill. It is alleged to be vulnerable to once-a-century flood levels.

An attempt to impeach John Riedman Jr., SIUE student body president, failed one vote short in the Student Senate. Opponents said he is enrolled for only one class in the spring quarter instead of the required "classes."

National Steel Corp. has joined U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin in raising steel prices $10 a ton June 1. Noting that triggered a rise in the third quarter, Bethlehem Steel then undercut the domestic price preempt with smaller hikes.

Congressman Melvin Price has assets in utility stocks, bonds and money market funds of between $20,002 and $135,000, and liabilities of $20,801 to $55,000. His 1980 income other than his congressional pay, mainly from interest earned on investments, totaled between $6,252 and $37,750. Wide categorical ranges governing such reports fail to provide precise totals.

Alton dam gates were opened this week to accommodate a river rise caused by heavy weekend rain.

Illinois senators by a 30-16 vote Monday added an amendment to the Southern Illinois University appropriation in an effort to end Chancellor Kenneth Shaw's $1,070 monthly housing allowance. Dr. Shaw, who built his own home in Edwardsville, said the allowance costs taxpayers less than having the state provide him with a residence.

The Illinois House voted 91-73 Monday to increase its members' yearly allowance for district offices from $17,600 to a new total of $22,000. It voted 93-69 Tuesday to allow bank holding companies to acquire other banks in the state.

The Illinois Senate decided 34-0 Tuesday to ban drug paraphernalia sales.

DRIVEWAY MISHAP
Michael A. Zarlingo, 17, of 2220 Willow Ave. was slightly hurt early this week in a collision between his car, backing out of a driveway at 2224 Delmar Ave., and the auto of Laura Vogeler, 2208 Amos Ave.

PARKED TRUCK TAKEN
The brown 1979 Ford four-wheel-drive truck of Andrew Godsey of St. Louis County was stolen early this week from the Crossroads Plaza parking lot.

Where have all the people gone?

It's official. The population of Granite City has declined from 40,400 persons 10 years ago to 36,815.

That's what the Granite City Council was told Tuesday night and the council decided there is no sense in fighting further.

Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar notified the city in a letter that the state has certified the results of the 1980 census, setting the population of Granite City at 36,815. The city had appealed to the U.S. Bureau of the Census after the head count last year, believing that the figures are too low, the Census Bureau restudied its figures and asked the state to certify that figure.

The census count is important, since the amount of money the city receives from revenue sharing, motor fuel tax and other state and federal funds is determined by the population of the city.

Tuesday night, Mayor Paul Schuler told the council, "I don't think there is anything we can do about it, except change the signs when he saw the sign, now say, 'Granite City,' population '40,400.'"

Although 4-H is of strong agricultural orientation, the city club events include urban areas. Mrs. Mills plans to promote recruiting in Granite City, Madison and Venice. "All the club meetings are open to the public," Mrs. Mills said.

"We would like to reach more people. We involve city residents, as well as rural," she continued.

Members of ethnic groups also are welcome to join the club. Interested persons, ages 8 through 19, may obtain more information by calling the extension office at 1-656-8400.

Mrs. Mills will plan, organize and present with rural and educational programs in Madison County.

She has attended William State College in Iowa and Iowa State University, where she received her bachelor degree in home economics education. At Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, she attended graduate school, majoring in early childhood development.

She is qualified to teach all function of government to protect the health and safety of buyers and renters and he would not object to a safety inspection of property by the city, but said all of the requirements dealing with room size, number of bathrooms, size of windows and other features of houses and apartments "should be stricken" from the ordinance.

The reality board's president said there currently are safeguards to protect buyers. If the property is sold under a VA or FHA program, it is inspected by federal appraisers. If it is bought under a conventional loan, it is appraised by a conventional appraiser.

In either case, the appraiser must report safety hazards. "Lending institutions won't make a loan if the property is not up to par," Kaegel stated.

He said safety hazards usually are discovered before the sale, but if not, Illinois Power routinely checks a property before turning on the power and gas. "It has been our experience that if a property is unsafe, Illinois Power will not turn on the utilities until the problems are corrected," he said.

"Is the city going to say it knows more about utilities than the utility company does?" he asked.

He contended that in Alton, Venice and Madison, "We have found it is a matter of personal prejudice by the building inspector. If he doesn't like a particular real estate broker or buyer, or they are not in the favor with the administration in power, the building inspector will give them a hard time."

"There is no such thing as a perfect house. My house, your house, all houses have imperfections. If a building inspector wants to turn a property down, he can find some way to do it. In Alton, many sales have fallen through, even though the seller wanted to sell and the buyer wanted to buy. By blocking the sale, the inspector cost the buyer what he could have earned by buying the property and later selling it years later at a profit. Who are they protecting?" Kaegel asked.

He warned, "This is still a buyer beware market. What they see is what they get. Buyers should ask the realtor and the owner if the roof leaks and if they lie, then they (the realtor and buyer) are responsible. It boils down to the public knowing what to ask or going to someone who does know."

He said the real estate market is "hamstrung" enough with high interest rates, inflated prices, and other problems without the city government adding another level of costly control. The $25 inspection fee, $4 occupancy permit fee, $5 temporary occupancy fee and $100 appeal fee all add to the cost of purchasing or renting a home and may detract a potential buyer from getting into the market.

"It all falls back to what President Ronald Reagan is talking about in removing regulations—getting the government off people's backs," he concluded.

Shirley Mills is new 4-H advisor

Mrs. Shirley Mills of Marine, Ill., has been chosen to serve as Assistant Extension Adviser of Youth for the 4-H Club program and plans to expand the program soon in the Quad-City area.

The 4-H project is a youth educational program of the Cooperative Extension Service, and works in conjunction with the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Club activities are educational, fun, and teach children and young adults to develop leadership and realize their full potential as individuals, Mrs. Mills said.

The club participates in county fairs and state competitions. Volunteer leaders accompany the young members on trips to the various events.

Although 4-H is of strong agricultural orientation, the city club events include urban areas. Mrs. Mills plans to promote recruiting in Granite City, Madison and Venice. "All the club meetings are open to the public," Mrs. Mills said.

For those who failed to purchase $3 auto stickers by the May 15 deadline, the cost is now $5.00 for cars and more for trucks and vans. Stickers may be purchased at the city clerk's office in city hall.

Man shot after traffic mishap

Marcel Tarris, 39, Highland, is recuperating at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after he was shot twice by another driver following a minor auto accident on Pontoon Road at Nameki Road at 7:35 a.m. Wednesday.

According to Tarris, he had driven on Pontoon Road from Route 111 and was stopped in traffic for the red light at Nameki Road when a yellow late-model General Motors auto, possibly a Chevrolet Monte Carlo, bumped the rear of his car.

Tarris said he got out, found no damage and said to the driver of the yellow car, "I don't have any damage, if you don't." He said the driver of the yellow car then approached him, he heard a loud bang and felt pain to his shoulder.

Tarris said he fell and was shot again in the left thigh. He never saw the gun, he said.

The driver of the yellow car then returned to his vehicle and drove south on Nameki Road. Tarris was able to get back into his car and drove to Yates Mobil at the intersection, where he walked into the garage and asked for help.

He was taken by a Granite City ambulance to the medical center, where he was admitted. He was in good condition today.

Police searched the area south of the shooting scene, but were unable to locate the yellow car. They checked the scene of the shooting. No shell casings, blood or witnesses were found, police said.

Tarris described his assailant as about 25 to 27 years old, about 5 feet, 9 inches tall, weighing about 165 pounds and having long black hair.

A purse containing cash, jewelry and other items, valued at more than $400, was stolen from Gloria Hutchinson, 2739 Warrick Ave., while she was working in the front yard of a residence at 2629 E. 25th St.

She had left the purse hanging on a fence and only noticed it was missing when she went to get a cigarette, she told police at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday. In the purse were $348 cash, $172 in food stamps, a diamond ring, valued at $150, a "mother's ring," $125, three watches, $50, and personal papers.

"Is the city going to say it knows more about utilities than the utility company does?" he asked.

He contended that in Alton, Venice and Madison, "We have found it is a matter of personal prejudice by the building inspector. If he doesn't like a particular real estate broker or buyer, or they are not in the favor with the administration in power, the building inspector will give them a hard time."

"There is no such thing as a perfect house. My house, your house, all houses have imperfections. If a building inspector wants to turn a property down, he can find some way to do it. In Alton, many sales have fallen through, even though the seller wanted to sell and the buyer wanted to buy. By blocking the sale, the inspector cost the buyer what he could have earned by buying the property and later selling it years later at a profit. Who are they protecting?" Kaegel asked.

He warned, "This is still a buyer beware market. What they see is what they get. Buyers should ask the realtor and the owner if the roof leaks and if they lie, then they (the realtor and buyer) are responsible. It boils down to the public knowing what to ask or going to someone who does know."

He said the real estate market is "hamstrung" enough with high interest rates, inflated prices, and other problems without the city government adding another level of costly control. The $25 inspection fee, $4 occupancy permit fee, $5 temporary occupancy fee and $100 appeal fee all add to the cost of purchasing or renting a home and may detract a potential buyer from getting into the market.

"It all falls back to what President Ronald Reagan is talking about in removing regulations—getting the government off people's backs," he concluded.

Boy, 10, is hit by car

Paul Kampmann, 10, of 1701 Edison Ave., suffered cuts to his left lower leg and abrasions to his left elbow and the back of his head when his bicycle was struck by the auto of Ward Stroehmer, 2112 E. 24th St., on Cleveland Boulevard south of 19th Street at 5:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Stroehmer said he had just started his southbound car moving from the red light and was going about 20 mph when he saw three or four bicyclists riding at the edge of the road. When he approached, Kampmann allegedly rode across the street in front of the car and Stroehmer was unable to stop before striking him.

Kampmann was taken by his brother to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was admitted in good condition.

Limb pickups underway
Granite City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell today appealed for patience from those who are waiting to have limbs and brush from Sunday's storm picked up and hauled away.

"We are using all the equipment we have and are covering the city section by section picking up brush. We have two crews and one chipper on the streets. Another chipper is being repaired and we hope to have it in service soon."

"Everything available is working, so there is no need to call the street department. We are picking up by areas and will get the brush in your area as soon as possible," Portell pledged.

Warmed residents to avoid blocking the streets when piling limbs by the curb. "That can be very dangerous. Don't block the streets," he concluded.

New cutoff date at Illinois State

Benefit concert for rape center

For the first time in its 124-year history, Illinois State University at Normal-Bloomington is placing a deadline on former undergraduate students seeking readmission to the institution.

Those former students will have until June 15 to submit their applications. The deadline date has been necessitated by budgetary constraints, staff limitations, and anticipated high enrollments, in spite of ISU's earlier efforts to cut off admissions for freshmen and transfer students.

ISU had an on-campus enrollment exceeding 19,700 this past fall. In spite of the curtailment measures already taken approved applications for new students for next fall are at 9,315, an increase of 582 from the same time a year ago.

Students affected by the new action are the undergraduates who previously attended the university but who were not in attendance for the spring semester of 1981. Those seeking admission to THE ISU Graduate School or former graduate students are not affected by this action.

Former ISU students may contact the Office of Admissions and Records with questions concerning their admission status or to secure an application. The toll-free number for Illinois residents is 800-322-2314.

MD degree to Ralph Reeder

Ralph F. Reeder Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reeder, Glen Carbon, will receive the doctor of medicine degree tomorrow from Washington University in St. Louis.

He is a 1973 Granite City high school graduate and received the bachelor of science degree in 1977 from the University of Illinois. He is married to the former Teddi Mitchell of Marion, Ill. Dr. Reeder will begin a residency in surgery at Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center, Hanover, N.H., July 1.

The beginner often wonders how many different colors to use in an arrangement. In general, unless one is putting together one of those old-fashioned beautiful bouquets, it is best to limit the selection to two or three. Just as a fine painting always has a characteristic color, an arrangement usually is predominantly of one color. To this is added a smaller amount of a second color along with a dash of a third color to provide a nice balance. The dash is usually strong and vibrant and very likely will provide a focal point for the arrangement.

Our designers can handle arrangements for all types of occasions. Take the time to come in and talk to us at BETTY AND BOB'S FLOWERS AND GIFTS, 2156 Pontoon Road, 877-8833 for all your needs. Michael Gerboe is one of our custom designers. Tell him the colors you would like and he can handle the rest. Delivery is available within the Granite City area. Open: 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon. thru Sat.

FLOWER TIP:
For harmony and balance, arrange colors in related groupings rather than spotting them polka-dot fashion all over the arrangement.

Change in law to benefit some

Certain retired self-employed people — mainly insurance agents and farmers — will benefit from a recent change in the law, Oliver M. Holmes, Social Security district manager of the East St. Louis and Belleville Social Security offices, report.

The change concerns the definition of income which counts for the annual earnings test, the measure used to decide if a person is retired.

Under the old law, all of the income a self-employed person received in a year counted under the annual earnings test, even if part of it was actually earned before that year.

Under the new law, income received in a year after the year a self-employed person becomes entitled to social security retirement benefits if it is not earned after the month of entitlement will not affect benefit payments.

Holmes said that since this provision is effective for taxable years ending after December 1977, some self-employed people will be due benefits that were withheld for 1978, 1979 or 1980.

"We cannot identify the people affected by this change in the law," Holmes said. "Therefore, anyone who thinks he or she may be affected should get in touch with the East St. Louis office located at 650 Missouri Avenue, East St. Louis, Ill. 62201, or the Belleville office located at 200 West Main, Belleville, Ill. 62220.

The person should bring his or her self-employment tax returns for 1978, 1979 or 1980 and any other information available.

With this information, social security can decide if any back benefits are due. If benefits are due, they will be paid after the decision is made.

This change in the law does not affect any tax liability. It applies only to earnings for the annual earnings test.

Anyone having questions about this change in the law may contact the East St. Louis or Belleville Social Security office (Enterprise 1-555 toll free).

The governor added, "You know I have told you, Sam, that I would love to join with you in throwing out the first basketball in the completed gym. I want you to know I intend to do just that."

Lazerson praised SIU Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw, formerly president of SIUE, as one of the "prime movers" in securing the new building. "Shortly after he became president of the university, Dr. Shaw mounted a brilliant tactical plan to bring the project to fruition," Lazerson said.

Dr. Shaw joined the other speakers in expressing appreciation to all who had a role in developing the project.

Citing it as a truly multi-purpose building, he said, "It is designed to enhance the educational and recreational development of our students and to be a community resource for athletic and cultural events. I'm pleased, and I believe the action in the years ahead will demonstrate that it was worth all the effort that so many have made."

Eldon Bigham, SIUE athletic director, pointed out the winning athletic tradition at the university, even though it has not had its own gymnasium. "Because we have always made the most of our developing resources, we have produced champions on both the team and individual level. Yet, we have always recognized that all athletes are students first, and that those who enroll at SIUE come here to get an education."

Bigham promised to continue the policy of placing first priority on quality education for students. "The athletic program at this university will always stand firm in that policy. The policy will guide the use of the building that will stand on this site," he said.

A highlight of the program was recognition of high school champions from the area served by the university. Plaques were presented to the basketball coaches of boys teams from Madison and Scotland high schools and girls teams from East St. Louis Lincoln and Southwest High School in St. Louis.

Construction of the multi-purpose building is expected to require two years. It will have more than 100,000 square feet of usable space, including classrooms, a laboratory, faculty offices, the multi-purpose gym, studios, specialized recreation facilities, training rooms, locker rooms and a swimming pool.

After brief speeches by university officials, plus State Senator Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville and the general contractor for the project, Joseph I. Lazzaroli of Kankakee, the dignitaries stepped outside the bubble gym to turn a few shovels of muddy earth, signifying the start of construction.

The facility has been the dream of university leaders and area legislators for more than 14 years.

"It would be hard to exaggerate the elation we all feel now that ground is finally being broken," SIUE President Earl Lazerson said.

He challenged the university and community "to keep two great ideals before us — the notion of the Golden Mean, which demands balance and moderation in all things, and the ideal of healthy minds in sound bodies, approaches which are complementary to each other.

"At this building, we must keep balance in use as our ideal, with sure emphasis that educational needs and values come first."

"Secondly," Lazerson said, "we must point out that this building is intended to fill recreational needs of our students, of our faculty and staff and, as far as possible, the citizens of the region we serve."

Sen. Vadalabene, who spearheaded the effort in the legislature to bring the building to reality, said, "I am pleased and proud to be here to actually see the ground broken. I think I'll save my long speech for the ribbon-cutting because I'm as anxious as everyone else to see the work get started."

The senator read a personal message from Gov. James R. Thompson, who said, "This is a truly historic occasion. My heart is with you today, and I rejoice with you in this accomplishment. I am proud to have had a part in making it come true."

Groundbreaking is called a truly historic occasion

Cold, driving rain and blustery winds failed Monday to prevent ground from being broken for the $11.8 million multi-purpose physical education, recreation and athletics facility at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Unseasonal weather forced the ceremonies from the construction site east of the bubble gymnasium to the interior of the inflated fabric structure, which has been the university's only indoor facility for physical education, recreation and athletics since 1974.

After brief speeches by university officials, plus State Senator Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville and the general contractor for the project, Joseph I. Lazzaroli of Kankakee, the dignitaries stepped outside the bubble gym to turn a few shovels of muddy earth, signifying the start of construction.

Borney, Rozycki lead Quad-Cityans

GRANITE CITY — There will be a smaller-than-usual contingent of Quad City tracksters at this weekend's State Track Meet in Charleston at Eastern Illinois University. But that doesn't mean much to the four from the Press-Record area who'll be there. Alvin Wilks of Chicago Leo is tops at 48.6.

Granite City North's Rozycki, one of the top hurdlers in the area, was the fifth-fastest (died with six others) in the 110 meter high hurdles. He ran a 14.4 at Belleville East's Class AA District Friday. Derek Cote of Chicago Heights Bloom was fastest at 14.0.

Granite City South's Drew Gleaser in the 400 meter run just missed having one of the top district performances in the state with his 2:12. North's other entry, shot putter Mike Long, had a distance of 16.55 meters.

Class AA events will be conducted Friday afternoon beginning at 12:30 p.m. Finals will be conducted concurrently Saturday beginning at 11 a.m. with the field events and 12:15 p.m. for the running events. The annual opening ceremony will get under way at noon. Col. Jack D. May of Urbana will be honored in the opening ceremonies as the Honorary Referee for the 1981 state final. He is the third man from Urbana to be honored by the IHSA for contributions to the boys track program in Illinois. Others were Shelby Himes in 1961 and Eugene (Gene) Arner in 1977.

Competition in this weekend's boys meet and taped highlights of last weekend's girls meet will be carried live Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. on five of seven stations on the IHSA Television Network. The other two stations will carry the three-hour program on a tape delay basis. Stations carrying the live telecast will be: WICD-TV, Springfield; WRAU-TV, Peoria; KHQA-TV, Quincy; WIBF-TV, Rock Island; and WICS-TV, Springfield. WQRF-TV, Rockford, will telecast the program beginning at 1:30 p.m. Sunday. The complete program will be carried beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 6, on WGN-TV, Chicago.

Members of the announcing crew working play-by-play for the telecast will be Tom Stocker of Memphis, Tenn., who anchored last spring's telecast and Frank Bussone of Peoria, Ill., who has been active in the network-handling play-by-play. ## Inter-City opens play

Special to the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — The Illinois Inter-City League will open its 51st season with a pair of doubleheaders this Sunday, May 24.

The Inter-City League will have five teams this season, including new addition Collinsville. Two teams from Granite City, McDonald's and Corral Liqueur, will join Edwardsville and Maryville in completing the lineup.

McDonald's will return most of its lineup from last season's league championship team, including shortstop Jeff Parker from Illinois State and Granite City South, second baseman Bob Stegemeier from Illinois State (he's a reserve punter on the football team) and South, pitcher Dave Lindsay and Jeff Tretter.

This Sunday, Maryville will play at McDonald's and Corral Liqueur will play at Collinsville. Edwardsville has a bye. Both doubleheaders will begin at 1 p.m. McDonald's and the Corral Liqueur Cowboys play their home games at Diamond One in Granite City's Wilson Park. Collinsville's Chiefs will play at Fletcher Field, the Maryville Red Sox will play its games at the Maryville Diamond and Edwardsville's Nationals will play their home games at Hoppe Field in Edwardsville.

McDonald's is managed by Ray Harris and Corral is managed by Ken Crawford. Crawford took over the reins of the then-new Corral entry last season after several seasons at the helm of the now-defunct Mitchell Inter-City team. McDonald's was also in its first season in the league last year.

Collinsville's new team will be managed by Jerry Phelps and will feature several players from Collinsville High's 1980 state Class AA state championship team, including State Tournament MVP pitcher Mark Campbell.

Edwardsville's Nationals will be in their second season of Inter-City League play. Joe Mueller will be the new manager, replacing Joe Lucco who stepped down. Maryville will be managed by Harold "Honey" Oberkell, uncle of St. Louis Cardinals third baseman Ken Oberkell. Players from the Troy, Maryville, Highland and Collinsville areas will make up most of the Maryville roster.

Six prep stars sign at SIUE

EDWARDSVILLE — The signing of six outstanding prep soccer players from the St. Louis area has been announced by Bob Guelker, varsity coach at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The six have inked letters of intent to enroll and play soccer for the Cougars beginning next September.

The six are Chris Hundelt, Rosary High; Dan Malloy, Hazelwood Central; Tom Blake, a transfer from Florissant Valley Community College; Sean Mulqueeny, also from Flo Valley; Bill Stallings, Rosary High; and Tim Loughman, Aquinas High.

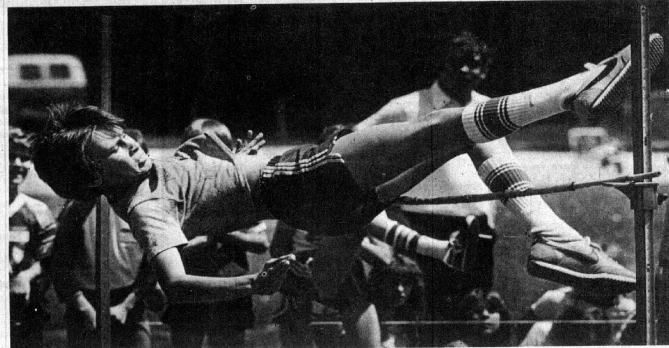

There of the signees—Hundelt, Malloy and Blake—continue a tradition of brothers following brothers to play and star for the Cougars.

Hundelt is a member of the USA Youth World Cup team that will play in the world championship games next fall in Australia. He was a key member of the Rosary High Missouri state championship team in 1979. His brother, Dave, was co-captain of the SIUE NCAA Division I national championship team in 1979.

member of his family to play for the Cougars; his brothers, Matt and Pat were both members of the 1979 championship eleven. Pat has one more year of eligibility left. Malloy comes to SIUE as the Missouri high school scoring leader.

Blake, a speedy forward from junior college, comes to SIUE as the Missouri high school scoring leader. He follows in the footsteps of his talented brother, Jack, who was named SIUE's player of the year in 1970. With Hundelt, Blake and Malloy, the total number of brother sons who have played for SIUE now total 13.

The upcoming (1981) season marks the 15th campaign of soccer directed by Guelker. Other families, in addition to Hundelt, Malloy and Blake, who have played for SIUE, include: the Kerstings—Jim, Rick and Gerry; the Schmidts—Steve and Larry; the Barrons—John and Bill; the Stremulas—Leo and John; the Carenzas—John and Chris; the Huneke—Ed and Denny; the Twenans—Tom and Mike; the Cacciatos—Steve, Chris and Jeff; the Mishalows—Gene and George; the Howes—Tom, Kevin, Jerry and Joe.

pete hayes Number One returns

MADISON — There'll probably be a lot of cheering here Friday night. And a few wet eyes in the place Saturday night.

And all because Number One is coming home.

Number One, Don Freeman. Probably the best basketball player ever to come from Madison High and just possibly the best to come from the Quad Cities, will be honored this weekend in his old hometown. Saturday, May 23, has been proclaimed Don Freeman Day by the Madison City Council. There'll be a special dinner dance in his honor at the Venice-Madison American Legion at 7:30 p.m. There will be guest speakers and his jersey will be retired. It'll be the first Madison jersey ever retired.

Freeman graduated from MHS in 1962 and went on to gain All-America honors at the University of Illinois and played in the NBA and the ABA. He now works at a bank in Champaign. He was just last month named to the All-Time Illini All-Star squad, along with former Granite City great Andy Phillip.

But Friday night's when the festivities will begin. Two "all-star" basketball games will be played at MHS gym. And the stars will really be coming out. The first game will begin at 6:30 p.m. and feature an team of "old time" MHS cage stars against a faculty team. The second game will feature the best players from more recent Trojan teams.

What a night. No what NIGHTS. Madison, even though thought of as a state power only recently, has a long and proud history in basketball. Some of the best players in the area have come from Madison through the years. In fact, the heart of Collinsville's 1961 state championship team was from Madison. But that's another story.

Friday's cage stars who'll be returning to the scene of their prep antics will include all-stars Freeman (1962), Gary Lusk (1967 and '68), Bob Page (1962 and '63), Dave "Bunny" Hrysko (1967), Cecil Bell (1966), Dale Turner (1966), Ron Jones (1976), Randall Jones (1977), Anthony King (1977) and Kenny Stanley (1979).

Others there will include Paul Lusk, Jacob Young, Rudolph Bradley, John Dineff, Jerry Maers, Jim Greer, Ken Griggs, Jerry Belford, Ricky Powers, Bob Fouts, Rubin Perry, Carthel Hamilton, Ron Glasper, Rod Davis, Ron Williams, Clarence Silar, Earnest Davenport, Leon Bland, Eddie Young, Neil Poboda, Bobby Haynes, Greg Lucas, Kerry Guest.

Wolfgang wins race

By JEFF EAVES
For the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — World of Outlaw point-leader Doug Wolfgang overtook three-time WOO Champion Steve Kinser of Bloomington, Ind., on lap 13 and won the 40-lap main event at the Tri-City Speedway here Wednesday night.

Wolfgang, who hails from Souix Falls, S.D., was challenging Kinser for the lead when Kinser's car blew a gear box forcing the King of the Outlaws out of competition. Kinser had inherited the lead from his first row starting position and lead for the first 13 laps.

Wolfgang was followed by Eddie Leavitt of Kearney, Mo., Rick Ferkel of Findlay, Ohio, Lee Osborne of Jamestown, Ind., Jeff Swindell of Memphis, Tenn., Tim Green of Carmichael, Calif., Andy Hillenburg of Indianapolis, Ind., Ron Shuman of Mesa, Ariz., and Tom Corbin of Carrollton, Mo.

Jeff Swindell won the first heat over Tim Green, Lee Osborne and Tom Corbin. Sammy Swindell of Memphis, Tenn., won the second heat followed by Lee James of Linton, Ind., Bobby Davis Jr. of Memphis, Tenn., and Ron Shuman.

Doug Wolfgang won the third heat over Kenny Schrader of Fenton, Mo., Jimmy Sills of Sacramento, Calif., and Eddie Leavitt. Steve Kinser won the fourth heat over Bobby Allen of Hanover, Pa., Eddie Polich of Great Falls, Montana and Rick Ferkel.

Eighteen year old Rick Pennell of New Berlin, Ill., won the 12-lap semi-feature over Scott Ritchhart of Lincoln, Ill., Andy Hillenburg and Gary Scott of Hols Summit, Mo.

In the qualifying time trials, Bobby Allen of Hanover, Pa., broke Doug Wolfgang's track record from a year ago with a clocking of 19.821 seconds over the half mile clay track. Doug Wolfgang and Sammy Swindell also broke Wolfgang's old track record also.

A total of 39 WOO sprint cars were on hand.

This Saturday local racing will return to the speedway with the IHSA sprint cars, the limited late models and the street stocks. Racing will begin at 7:30 p.m.

On Monday, May 25, the third annual Tombstone Rally will be held with the late model stock cars racing for $2,000 to win the feature. Racing will begin at 7:30 p.m.

South slay set

GRANITE CITY — Staying on top once you get there is hard — just ask Granite City South soccer coach Gene Baker.

Baker, who's coached South's Warriors to five consecutive Illinois state championships, has made it even harder. He's just released his 1981 fall schedule and it's a doozy.

Included in the schedule is the first-ever Granite City South's Tournament of Champions Oct. 5 through 10 at South's Sports Complex. Entered will be defending Missouri state champion Vianey of St. Louis, two-time defending Indiana state champion Evansville Reitz Memorial, defending C.A.C. champion Riverview Gardens and five-time Illinois state champion Granite

Civics have high hopes for 1981 campaign

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press Record
GRANITE CITY. Why drive all the way to St. Louis to see professional baseball, when you could watch next to the real thing right here in Granite City. No, the Cardinals haven't moved across the river, but the Hayman's Civics should provide the type of baseball one would expect to see from a semi-professional team.

Composed of college and ex-professional ballplayers, the Civics, headed by assistant Granite City South baseball coach Greg Patton, have put together a squad that could very well equal a Class AA minor league team in a professional organization. And the quality of talent varies from first year college players to minor league and even a couple players that have pitched batting practice to the St. Louis Cardinals. "We're semi-pro by classification from the National Baseball Congress (NBC)," said Patton. But we're a non-professional team." The 20-man roster, that could vary should Patton feel he needs the help, includes six former Granite City South players. Paul Evans helps staff the eight pitchers. A 1977 South graduate, Evans is presently hurling in his senior year at SIU-Carbondale.

An all-conference pick in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association at Southwest Missouri State University this year (his senior), Keith Champion, a 1977 Warrior grad, is one of two Civics catchers. The infield has two South standouts. Tom Henrich, 1978, has set the total career hit record at Illinois State as a junior and Kevin Sykes, 1980, is a freshman at Lewis and Clark Community College. It's his first year with the Cardinals. As did Bob Hughes, who also played in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization. He was an SIU-E graduate and went to Okawville High School.

Two more SIU-E grads, John Urban played for the Twins and Pat Patterson, who went to Edwardsville High, played for the New York Yankees. The experience and talent is great to have, however, Patton may lose a couple. "I could lose up to three players because of the pro draft the week in June," said Patton. It must be nice to pick some of the best ball players to play for you.

The remainder of the team includes first year Civic player Darrell Wehrndt and Bill Stickle and Stan Osterbur. Wehrndt is a junior at SIU-E and an Edwardsville High grad, while Stickle and Osterbur are former SIU-E players. Stickle is from St. Louis. He is joined by Vince Broderick of Edwardsville High, who is a freshman at Lake Land Junior College in Mattoon, Illinois and Steve Hosick, who played at Southeast Louisiana and resides in Columbia, Illinois.

Besides the new-comers, these talented group of ball players posted a 30-14 record last year and finished in a for 11th in the nation in the NBC tourney at Wichita, Kansas. The Civics were also the Southern Illinois-Missouri State champs. With the majority of its home games to be played at Hoppe Field in Edwardsville, the Civics have set six home dates at Granite City

Chyzowych resigns as national coach

NEW YORK — Walt Chyzowych, the United States National Coach and Director of Coaching, will resign following the FIFA World Youth Championship in October, the United States Soccer Federation announced today.

Chyzowych, who joined the Federation in the dual capacity as National Coach and Director of Coaching in 1976, cited "a desire to pursue other opportunities" as the reason for his decision. No plans have been announced by the Federation with regard to Chyzowych's successor.

In accepting Chyzowych's resignation, the USSF Board of Directors acknowledged the progress during his tenure, noting the development of the U.S. national program and the success of the national coaching schools.

"We are indebted to Walt for bringing the Federation and our national teams in international recognition and wish him the very best in whatever pursuit he undertakes," said President Gene Edwards. "We know the work he has done will bear fruit in the years ahead and we will continue to look to him for help in our efforts of making soccer a major national sport."

Chyzowych, 44, will continue to prepare the National Youth Team for the FIFA World Youth Championship for the Coca-Cola Cup, to be played Oct. 3-18 in Australia, and direct the USSF National Coaching Schools during the summer.

In explaining his decision to step down, Chyzowych said: "After five years as U.S. National Coach, I have exhausted my energies in that direction and feel I should pursue other opportunities at this time."

"The question resigning has been on my mind for some time. It was a difficult decision to make since having the opportunity to serve as U.S. National Coach has been the greatest honor bestowed upon me as a coach. I derived a great deal of satisfaction working with American coaches and players. I honestly believe in the quality of American soccer and the abilities of the American soccer player will eventually surpass every country in the world."

In Chyzowych's five-year tenure as National Coach, national teams engaged in the most aggressive international program in U.S. history. Under his leadership, the National Youth Team qualified for the FIFA World Youth Championship last summer, the national amateur team qualified for the 1978 Pan American Games and the Olympic Team was successful in landing a berth in the 1980 Moscow Games.

Chyzowych was unsuccessful in its bids to qualify for the 1978 FIFA World Cup in Argentina and the 1982 FIFA World Cup in Spain. The U.S. was eliminated by Canada and Mexico during the CONCACAF Northern Zone preliminary qualification round on both occasions.

Chyzowych, who came to the Federation after a successful 12-year collegiate coaching career at Philadelphia Textile, became the second full-time National Coach in July, 1976. He succeeded West German Detmar Cramer, who served in the position for only four months after being named this country's first full-time National Coach and Director of Coaching.

In an attempt to improve the fortunes of the national program, having shown minimal progress in the years prior, U.S. teams participated in over 100 international matches, more than in any other period. In addition to the qualification of the National Youth Team, the Olympic Team and the Pan Am Team, other successes under Chyzowych's tutelage include the National Team's triumph in the 1977 Festival of the Americas Cup, the Olympic "B" Team's victory in the 1978 Belmazona (Switzerland) International Tournament — the first tournament championship for a U.S. team in Europe and the National Team's showing during a 1979 tour of Europe.

record holder; Ann Penstone of Buffalo Grove, who has commented on the girls activities on the network since its inception; Don Sherry of WBBW-TV, Rock Island, who will be on the infield; and Art Kimball of WIAU-TV, Peoria, who also will be on the infield, all will provide analysis and insights.

The Class A champions from a year ago return. Back in Class A are Gary Hudson of Oakland in the 800-meter run, John McCarthy of Buffalo Tru-City in the 300-Meter Low Hurdles and Mike Conley of Chicago Luther South, the reigning small school champion in both the Long Jump and Triple Jump. The only Class AA returning champion is Larry Streeter of Chicago Phillips in the triple jump.

Two of the other potential superstars of this year's meet are sprinter Wallace Spearman of Blue Island Eisenhower (the brother of record-setting Dora Spearman, who erased the IHSAA girls state mark in the 200-Meter Dash and who bettered the Class AA record in the 100-Meter Dash).

South

South's tournament will take place at the same time as the prestigious C.Y.C. Tournament in St. Louis — which South won last season. Thus, South, Riverview and Vianney, three of the best teams in the tournament last season, have dropped the C.Y.C. in favor of the Granite City meet.

Last season, on its way to the state crown, South defeated Vianney and Reitz. The Warriors downed the eventual Missouri state champs 1-0 in the C.Y.C. Memorial 3-1 in regular season action in Evansville.

Also on South's schedule next season will be regular season home games with Springfield Southeast, St. Louis Bishop DuBourg, Belleville West, St. Mary's of St. Louis, Quincy Notre Dame and Collinsville in addition to the regular home games with Gateway East Conference foes.

Next season will be regular season home games with Springfield Southeast, St. Louis Bishop DuBourg, Belleville West, St. Mary's of St. Louis, Quincy Notre Dame and Collinsville in addition to the regular home games with Gateway East Conference foes.

Steve Miller took third place in the long jump. Entrants from the local Chapter were David Corbett and Fred Trebing. Anthony Tagliaferro coached the team.

Returns

Also there will be Eric Stanley, Clayton Walker, Lloyd Williams, Clayton Harris, Kenny Boyd, Ron Morris, Anthony London, Joe Gulash, Thornton Higgins, Jon Henke, Anthony Matthews, Roger Glasper, Charles Lucas, Vernell Glasper, Doug Griggs, Larry Boyd, Lloyd Higgins, Will Banks, Willie Petty, Dennis Latham, Gerold Griggs, Earl Hines, Do Foster and Calvin Jackson. Also playing will be four stars from old Dunbar High in Madison, Howard Silas, Charles Rockett, Vernell Jackson and Frank Jenkins.

At Saturday's dinner, guest speakers will include Bogle Redman, former Collinsville All-Stater and teammate of Freeman at Illinois; Wade James, former MHS coach and principal;

Joshua Johnson, former MHS principal, coach and assistant state superintendent of schools; Joe May, spokesman for WIBV Radio in Belleville; Earl McClanahan, former coach and current principal at Madison Middle School; Madison Mayor Mike Sayke; State Senator Sam Vadala; State Representative Sam Wolf; State Representative Jim McPike; and State Representative Everett Steele.

The 1981 Madison state championship team will also be honored. Tickets for Saturday's dinner are priced at $6 per person or $10 a couple. Friday's activities will cost $1 for both adults and children. Tickets for both can be purchased from any member of the Madison Trojan Booster Club. All proceeds will go to the MHS athletic programs.

South contributions

Granite City South football coach Jerry McKechan has already started building for next fall's season. Hoping to rebuild a dilapidated weight room, he's soliciting contributions from area organizations. Above, Granite City Firemen (L-R) Bob Bell and Bob Sanders give South captains Mike Bunjan and Dan Harris a check for $500 from the Granite City Firefighters Local 253. At right, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler (left) makes a contribution to McKechan at Granite City South High.

Mendoza to Louisville

GALESBURG — Granite Cityan Richard Mendoza, boxing out of the Mexican Honorary Commission Boxing Club, finished second here Sunday in his age group.

Mendoza, because of his second place finish, will move to the Regional Junior Olympics June 5-6, 7 in Louisville, Ky.

Mendoza lost the championship bout in the 85-pound division on a split decision to Bryan Sloan of the Decatur Boxing Club, whom he had beaten earlier this season.

The Granite Cityan earned his way to the title bout with a first round TKO of Sean Donnellson of Canton.

Mendoza was awarded a trophy for outstanding boxing ability and for sportsmanship.

DeMolay second

NORMAL — The track team of Granite City's James Stuart Chapter Order of DeMolay took second place at the DeMolay State Track meet at Horton Field on the Illinois State University campus, Normal, Sunday, May 17. The team from Tinley Park placed first.

Individual events were won by Granite Cityans: Shot Put - Larry Reed; Discus - Larry Reed; High Jump - Darren Miller, and 200 Meter Dash - Jeff Limbaugh.

Finishing in second place were: 400 Meter Relay - Kris Tanase, Paul Cimarr, Steve Miller and Antonio Narvaez; 800 Meter Relay - Kris Tanase, Jerry Singleton, Jeff Limbaugh and Antonio Narvaez.

Steve Miller took third place in the long jump. Entrants from the local Chapter were David Corbett and Fred Trebing. Anthony Tagliaferro coached the team.

PTA state and district winners in students' fine arts contest

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Laura B. Hileman, a sixth grade pupil at Nameoki School, won the Illinois award in the music division of the 1980-81 National Congress of Parents and Teachers Fine Arts contest. She received the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers award in the intermediate age group for students in the fourth through sixth grades at the state PTA convention held in Chicago.

The winner is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hileman and the award was granted for a music composition, entitled "Famille Cirque." The cultural arts project originating from the National PTA and based on the theme, "What A Family Means to Me," features three divisions of competition—music, visual arts and literature.

Pupils from the primary through senior high levels are eligible to participate in one of four age groups. The contest started at the local level here with sponsorship by the Granite City Area Council of PTAs.

Local winners then competed in the PTA's District 29 area before advancing to the regional and state levels. The area contest was coordinated by Mrs. June Nightwine Branding, Granite City PTA Area Council cultural arts chairman, Mrs. Julie Gates, local PTA Area Council president, and Mrs. Barbara Haddock, District 29 director.

Kenneth Beljanski, also a sixth grade student at Nameoki School and the son of Mrs. Kathleen Beljanski, captured an honorable mention award from the Illinois State PTA in the visual arts division. Other local visual arts winners at the district level were: Clara Cornelison, sixth grade, Nameoki; Cheryl Thomas, third grade, and Christine Cruse, first grade, Wilson School; and Dean Sheikh, first grade, Logan School.

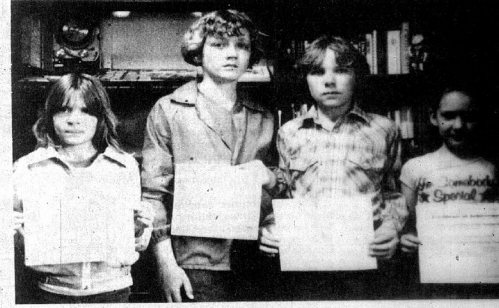

Judge in this category at the district and local level was Bob Moske. In literature, judged by Marcella Williams, Judy Ridlin, a Parkview sixth grader, was grand winner at the regional and district levels. Local and district winners, also in literature, were Michelle Jackson and Jamie Hogan, sixth grade, and Dean Sheikh, second grade, all from Parkview School, and Becky Kramer, sixth grade, Wilson School. Music division winners in District 29 and local contests were David Lane, Yolanda Sue McCoy and Brian Forbes, all sixth grade pupils at Nameoki School, and Dana Kelly, fifth grade, Logan School.

Mrs. Marilyn Bernaix served as music judge.

During the Illinois Congress convention, Laura Hileman was presented the state award before the assembled delegates by Joan Richards, state cultural arts chairman. The Granite City sixth grade pupil was accompanied to Chicago by her parents and sister, Sara. Laura also was honored at a reception, hosted by

Academic honors to 70 Quad-Cityans

More than 150 students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville received special awards, in addition to nearly 1,000 being recognized for academic achievement, at the annual Honors Day convocation at the University Center this week.

For the second time in the history of the campus, four SIUE Foundation awards were given for academic excellence.

Annually, the Foundation gives awards to the male and female students with the highest four-year grade-point averages. This year, there were three female students and one male with perfect 5.0 grade point averages.

The three women receiving Foundation awards were Christine M. Schultze of Troy, who is majoring in business administration, and Kathleen M. Schneider of Wood River and Roxanne M. Jenemann of Arnold, Mo., both majoring in speech pathology and audiology. The latter is also a presidential scholar.

The young man receiving the Foundation award was Rod E. Hartzel of Granite City, who is majoring in biology.

For Honors Day academic achievement recognition, freshmen and sophomores must maintain a grade point average of 4.25 or better, and juniors and seniors must maintain a 4.50 or better.

To be eligible, students must have completed and passed at least 24 calculated hours of studies at the university.

Special awards went to Granite Cityans Robert Azari, Esther Ott Estes Award in Mathematics; Dolores M. Dochwat, Biology Outstanding Senior Award; Rod E. Hartzel, SIUE Foundation Award for Academic Excellence; and the Ella Ott Weisman Award in Biology.

Francone Litzelman, Award for Outstanding Scholarship to Seniors in Administrative Services; Carol Beth Potillo, John F. Kiburz Honors Awards in Piccolo.

Each letter asking for appointment to the Board of Education is to include a brief resume of the individual who is applying.

The board will hold a special meeting at 7 p.m. June 9 to fill the board position. It also may pick a new president to replace Saltich June 9, unless it decides to do that June 2.

The person added to the board will serve in an unexpired term extending to November 1983.

Legal rulings indicate that Saltich, a resident of the city, must be replaced by someone from the same area—urban, rather than rural or unincorporated.

Although service on the board requires sacrifices and is non-salaried, Saltich in his resignation presented an upbeat, highly positive view of board membership.

George Moore, acting president at Tuesday night's session, commended Saltich as "an unselfish, dedicated board member" who devoted much time to school matters.

The letter from Saltich related that "when I attended my first School Board meeting six years ago, I knew my basic purpose as a board member but I felt I would never be able to absorb all there was to learn."

"Feelings of awkwardness soon disappeared and, before I knew it, I felt like I was somewhat of an old hand at things. Had it not been for the patience and cooperation of men like (Supt. B. J.) Davis and the various administrators, many of whom became close, personal friends, and virtually the entire board, I might not be writing this letter now; six years later."

"My basic point is that these years have made more of an impression on me than any other time in my life—not only those people who have been so supportive and confident of me, but the job itself, which is more rewarding than one can begin to explain."

"The office instills something inside of you, to make you want to further your service for the people and with the people."

"It was for this reason I ultimately made the decision to seek the office of alderman, someone who not only represents the people of his area but has the opportunity to directly put into law ideas for the betterment of that

"Feelings of awkwardness soon disappeared and, before I knew it, I felt like I was somewhat of an old hand at things. Had it not been for the patience and cooperation of men like (Supt. B. J.) Davis and the various administrators, many of whom became close, personal friends, and virtually the entire board, I might not be writing this letter now; six years later."

"My basic point is that these years have made more of an impression on me than any other time in my life—not only those people who have been so supportive and confident of me, but the job itself, which is more rewarding than one can begin to explain."

"The office instills something inside of you, to make you want to further your service for the people and with the people."

"It was for this reason I ultimately made the decision to seek the office of alderman, someone who not only represents the people of his area but has the opportunity to directly put into law ideas for the betterment of that

Attacks on school fund sources

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Legislation and policies backed by Governor James R. Thompson not only are shrinking state tax support of schools but also are threatening school districts' ability to generate local revenue, Granite City School Supt. B. J. Davis said Friday.

In a letter to legislators, the superintendent asserted that pending legislation could reduce annual statewide school revenue by an estimated $312 million to $327 million, including a loss of more than $1,300,000 for the Granite City community unit school system.

Under attack are the property tax on real estate, the portion of the corporate income tax that replaced the corporate personal property tax, and the level of funding for general and mandated educational programs, Supt. Davis said.

"Categorical programs are not being adequately funded and the talk of ending some of the mandates has not been acted upon," he commented. "This is forcing more of the burden onto local taxes."

Davis cited:

Illinois House Bill 1147, limiting 1981 property taxes, $179 million impact statewide, including $650,000 here.

HB 1506, reducing the replacement tax rate, $48 million less statewide and $601,000 in Granite City.

HB 900, an investment tax credit affecting the replacement tax, $40 million to $55 million statewide and at least $32,500 here.

The local superintendent also is concerned about a freeze on income tax revenue sharing. Proposed in the governor's budget revisions, the freeze would have a statewide impact totaling $24 million.

And Gov. Thompson's recommended reduction in his education funding budget is projected at $21 million across the state, Davis added.

The governor originally proposed $90 million in new revenue for elementary and secondary schools but later trimmed this to $69 million, of which only $24 million would be used for general aid to schools, Supt. Davis said, commenting that this and proposed property tax limitations would prevent school districts from keeping pace with inflation and with the normal growth in each community.

Many of the proposed new state laws also threaten the financial stability of non-school taxing bodies, including cities and townships, Davis believes.

Although some of Thompson's stands are linked to budget-balancing efforts in a time of economic recession, the superintendent said, others would not provide "a penny of state revenue" but rather would restrict what governmental entities can obtain from their own area's homes and businesses.

Such policies might seem appealing to hard-pressed taxpayers—and might be popular for a limited time, perhaps extending through the 1982 election campaign—but their effect on the caliber of community governmental services could be disastrous, Davis is convinced.

Gasoline drops

Gasoline prices decreased at 40 percent of the service stations surveyed by the AAA-Automobile Club of Missouri in the monthly check of 55 stations on main highways in Missouri and nearby Illinois and Kansas.

Gasoline prices decreased an average of 2.4 cents per gallon since the April survey. But the survey still indicates a wide range in high and low gasoline prices.

Drivers will find prices vary from $1.25 to $1.43 for full-service regular and from $1.21 to $1.38 per gallon for self-service regular.

Full-service unleaded gas prices vary from $1.29 to $1.51 and at self-service pumps unleaded gas costs from $1.31 to $1.44.

Memorial Day travelers should have little trouble finding gasoline along the major highways. Eighty-six percent of the stations contacted said they will be open on Memorial Day.

Other stations operating hours remain about the same as they were last month. Fifty percent said they would close by 8 p.m. on weekdays (51 percent last month); 34 percent said they would close by 6 p.m. on Saturdays (33 percent said they would be open on Saturdays (37 percent last month); and 10 percent will again be open 24 hours.

French visitors here on 25th anniversary

By VALERIE EVENEDIN
of the Press-Record

"It was a glorious vacation," Blanche Alexander said, and listening to her delightful French accent, you knew it had been just that—glorious!

Mrs. Alexander, 2837 Benton St., was not talking about a vacation she herself made to her native France, but a trip to Granite City by her sister, Mrs. Alice Catherine Cae, and her cousins, Denise and Andree Glorif of Paris.

"It was Denise and Andree's 25th wedding anniversary so they came here from Paris to celebrate it," she said.

At the same time, however, French-born Mrs. Alexander also was celebrating a 25th anniversary observance.

She had retired that week from the St. Louis store of Lane Bryant, where she had been employed 25 years as a seamstress-fitter.

Mrs. Alexander learned her dressmaking skills in Paris and had practiced her art at Lane Bryant since joining the company in September 1955.

Upon her retirement, she was presented a gold watch and the well wishes of her co-workers and company officers.

A Granite City resident since 1946, Mrs. Alexander still retains her pretty French accent, although her English is excellent, and her hands frequently are in motion to emphasize a point in conversation.

She comes from the Cherbourg area of France, the peninsula on the coast of Normandy, which jets out into the English Channel.

The seaport was greatly devastated in World War II, both from bombing raids and in fighting after the D-Day landings.

Mrs. Alexander met her GI husband, Thomas Alexander, in France after the invasion of Normandy.

They were married there and came to the United States in 1946, bringing with them their small daughter, Arlette.

Arlette is now married to James Kovach.

She has two children of her own, Danielle and Robyn, and the family lives in Indianapolis, Ind., where she is president of a nursery school.

Blanche and Thomas, who is retired from Dow Chemical, also have a son, Staff Sergeant Dan Alexander, 33, currently stationed with the U. S. Army at Pensacola, Fla.

Three years ago and again more recently, Mrs. Alexander met her son in Paris while he was assigned in Europe.

She also visited her family there after an absence from her homeland of many years.

"When I left Paris, I had one nephew, now I have 24," she laughed.

She despairs of son Dan's single status.

"If he would just get married, I could get some more grandbabies," she said.

Mrs. Alexander said her relatives

6 exemptions ease part of the pain of paying property taxes

The exemptions can be helpful, but they are not automatic. It is up to home owners, and sometimes renters, to file applications in order to obtain the exemptions for which they are eligible.

An note in the last issue of the Press-Record, thousands of Madison County taxpayers are seeking assessment reconsideration by the Board of Review.

The board has held more than 7,000 hearings, and the total is expected to reach 9,000 before the annual preparation of tax bills begins this summer. Many of those unhappy with their valuations are from Namekigi Township and Granite City.

Each of the 24 townships in Madison County was set up as an assessment district. State law now requires townships with less than 1,000 residents to elect an assessor in conjunction with an adjacent township; as a result, Lee and New Douglas townships jointly form a single assessment district.

Each district elects its assessor, but Namekigi Township has none because no one has indicated he or she wants the job.

An assessor has a duty to adjust assessments each year to the approximate level of assessments in the district, taking into account inflation, building modernizations or additions, and changes in the use of property.

The assessor usually seeks to view any property before changing its assessment. The law requires him or her to view all property every fourth year for the quadrennial reassessment.

Supervisor of Assessments James Barton is appointed by the Madison County Board. Other key officials in the taxing process include County Clerk Evelyn Bowles and County Treasurer Michael Henkhaus, both of whom are elected, and the assessor, three members Board of Review, Robert Harris, Fred Finkel and Terry Francis. Each of the latter three is a real estate broker.

In a booklet he has written, and in talks to almost daily gatherings of property owners assembled for hearings, Francis notes that three "has the duty to review assessments set by all assessors in the county, and to make changes if he finds errors."

"Since there are 108,491 parcels of property in Madison County and no one can review all of these valuations every year, the supervisor of assessments limits his review to the areas where there are more obvious errors than in other areas."

"The Board of Review has the duty to adjust any assessment errors called to its attention. We ask Mr. Barton to reassess all of certain townships where the valuations appear to be grossly unequal."

"The law requires the supervisor of assessments and members of the Board of Review to pass a test showing their ability to appraise real estate."

"The law now requires some elected assessors to be certified Illinois assessment officials, meaning they must have completed certain course work—given or sponsored by the Illinois Department of Revenue—to get on the ballot. These courses are available to all assessment officials."

Even with the training and experience requirements for the elected and appointed people who judge property values, are home, store and factory assessments actually correct and fair? If so, why are thousands of hearings necessary?

Francis answers, "An assessment official is doing his job when he assesses every property by the same standard by the same yardstick as everyone else."

"Except in the case of farm land and farm buildings, that standard is the fair cash market value."

"Market value is the price you should have to pay for your property if you purchased it today. It isn't necessarily what you did pay for your property."

"You may have spent too much improving your property. You may have bought property next door to expand your business and paid a premium for it, more than the market generally would pay."

"If you paid too much for your mother, you may have paid more for a house than it should be sold for. Because of some hidden defect, you may have paid more for a home than it is worth."

"Speculators in real estate and developers may pay less than the market value."

"We on the review board have met many dedicated assessors. They want to be helpful and to treat everyone as they themselves like to be treated—the Golden Rule."

"They are aware that, often, even experts don't agree on what a particular property is worth. So, they are always seeking more knowledge."

"Expert opinion is the ultimate tool. Even a good assessor occasionally may have a poor result, but most of his assessments will be fair."

"The way to measure bad assessment practices is to look at the sale and assessment ratio in your township. Notice whether the assessments are clustered closely, or not closely, around the median. If there is a wide range, your assessor isn't doing his job."

"When a property sells, the person recording the deed must file a real estate transfer declaration stating the sale price. The ratio that the assessment bears to the sale price is the sales ratio."

"Not all sales are used in computing the ratio. Sales to neighbors and relatives are not considered."

"The middle or mean ratio is considered the level of assessment of a township. In townships with fewer than 25 usable sales in a year, the sales are supplemented by appraisals."

"If someone's property is left off the books or is assessed far below its value, you and I pay his taxes, because he is assessed too low, total valuations are lower and our tax rates are higher.

"Property record cards and all assessment records are public. You may see your own or your neighbor's."

"The quality depends on their completeness and accuracy."

"Whose duty is it to report someone who is assessed too low, or who is left off the books completely? We think it is everyone's duty as a citizen."

"All have a duty to make the system work as fairly as possible for all of us. If you know about an improper assessment, let a Board of Review member know."

Another duty is to strive for the right assessment of one's own property, and part of this involves filing for exemptions.

One action that nearly every Madison County home owner may wish to consider taking now is to submit the 1981 application for partial exemption under Senate Bill 1790 (reduction of owner-occupied residential real estate up to $5,000 assessed valuation).

Forms given out at hearings last week compare the 1977 and 1981 assessed values and property taxes. The exemption for up to $5,000 of the inflation-related assessment increase during that period of time.

Francis comments, "About 10 percent of the home owners having Board of Review hearings who are otherwise qualified for Bill 1790 exemption receive no exemption because they have been left at or cut back to the 1977 level."

"Another 30 percent do not get a large 1790 exemption for the same reason."

"Those people find that their tax bills are higher because of the exemption. Total assessed values are reduced in each taxing district by the total amount of the exemptions. When the valuations are lower, tax rates usually are higher if the budget remains the same."

"Another problem with 1790 is that not everyone entitled to it gets it. The assessment cutback must be applied for, since there is no other way we can tell that a property is eligible."

"Many fail to receive the exemption because they don't know about it. And some who are entitled to it don't get it because of administrative error; they have applied, but the reduction just doesn't get on their tax bill."

"Besides these inequities, 1790 is expensive to administer. Extra personnel are needed in the various assessing offices, at the review board, in the clerk's office and in the treasurer's office."

"Estimates of its cost countywide range from $250,000 to $500,000 a year."

"We question the use of our tax dollars, because the same goal could be achieved in other ways. If the legislature thinks residential properties should be assessed lower than other property, it could assess homes at 30 or 25 percent of value instead of 33 1/3. This kind of law would be easier to administer, less expensive, and fairer."

Shrine circus parade June 9

The annual Southern Illinois and Ainsworth Circus will be presented in Granite City this year on June 10, 11 and 12 at the Granite City Speedway.

The shows will follow a major parade in Granite City, Tuesday, June 9, at 7:30 p.m. Many Shrine units, bands, floats and motorized groups will be in the line of march that is now being arranged.

The circus will kick-off in Belleville on Saturday, June 6, after a major parade in Belleville the night before, on June 5. It will play at the Belle-Clair Fairgrounds for three days on Sunday, June 7, and one Monday night, June 8.

Granite City will be the scene of the Parade on Tuesday night, June 9, with circus performances on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

Saturday, June 13, will see a Circus Parade in DuQuoin with a show that night at 7:30 p.m. at the DuQuoin State Fairgrounds, plus a Sunday afternoon, and evening performance on June 14.

The 40 Shrine Clubs of Southern Illinois, plus the 39 Units of the Temple, hope the people of Southern Illinois will take advantage of the chance to see a real fine show, a spokesman said.

By the time Johnny Luxem finished the final act with his wheel of destiny, one of the top Circus World acts, the crowd that views the annual Southern Illinois Shrine Circus will have been treated to some of the best acts that can be put together.

George Barrendo and his full grown African Lions, the High Wire Wizard of the Great Jesolito, and that thundering herd of elephants of Colonel Lee Kerner, are just a sample of the famous acts.

Along with the clowns and all the other sidegists, such as Johnny Zoppes Rhesus Monkey Revue, it will fill a special evening.

Bringing the circus to Southern Illinois since 1968, the Shrine of Ainsworth Temple, all 8,000, are proud of getting the best.

Hill replaces Nighohossian as housing authority lawyer

By ED GURNEY
The Madison County Housing Authority board hired a new attorney Thursday night while the old attorney, Nighohossian, pressed the board to say why it fired him last month.

The new attorney is M. Joseph Hill of Edwardsville, who was hired after a lengthy closed session of the board. Hill practices law in Granite City.

The old attorney, Casper Nighohossian of Granite City, said he would weigh his options in the face of the board's refusal to respond to his letter.

Board members Reese Hoskin of Collinsville, Richard Hunter of Glen Carbon and Thomas Jun of Alton voted unanimously to hire Hill. (Paul Bargiel of Madison was absent. The fifth spot on the board is vacant following the resignation of James May of Edwardsville.)

Hill, Ted Diaz and Steve Anderson were interviewed during the closed session. A fourth announced candidate for the job did not appear.

It was Hoskin, Hunter and Jun who voted last month to fire Nighohossian. No reason was given for the action.

Hoskin, who chaired Thursday's meeting, declined after the meeting to respond to Nighohossian's letter. He said he wanted to discuss the matter with the board's new attorney first.

Nighohossian said it cost $800. The board letter that the only reason he had been given for his termination was that he had told the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development last September that the authority would sue if HUD did not approve its budget. The attorney said he had acted at the direction of the board.

Nighohossian also asked the board to pay him what he could have earned during the remaining nine months of his contract through collecting overdue rents. He received 25 percent of the amount he collected.

The board had previously agreed to pay Nighohossian the remainder of his retainer, $6,400.

Hill's retainer was set at $550 a month. (Nighohossian received $800.) The board said it would negotiate the percentage of collections Hill would receive.

Executive Director Janet Harolan said the board would have to ask HUD's permission to amend its budget to allow it to pay Hill. Such permission is routinely given, she said.

Nighohossian told the Herald he would question HUD giving permission to pay additional attorney fees. HUD officials held up approval of the authority's budget last year when it complained that Nighohossian's pay was too high.

The authority had been without an attorney since its last meeting a month earlier. However, Mrs. Harolan said some matters were postponed and the authority was able to get by without needing to consult with a lawyer during that period.

Transit board OKs bus service changes

By EDGURNEY

Additional trips will be added to the Collinsville-Edwardsville bus route to St. Louis when the Collinsville-Edwardsville route is eliminated July 6.

That was the announcement Friday from Susan Schold, manager of the Madison County Mass Transit District.

The number of additional trips has not yet been determined, Mrs. Schold said. That change is designed as a convenience for residents who now use the Collinsville-Edwardsville route, she said.

The transit board Friday in a meeting in Granite City formally approved service changes that had been announced earlier this month by the Bi-State Development Agency.

The Collinsville-Edwardsville line is the only bus serving St. Clair as well as Madison County that is being discontinued, Mrs. Schold said. The reason the transit board does not want to support the line is that it is of minimal benefit to Madison County residents, she said.

All fares collected in St. Clair County on inter-county lines will be credited to the Madison County Transit District as part of its local contribution to the bus operations.

A few minor schedule changes may be made on routes serving Madison County as a result of the closing of Bi-State garages in East St. Louis and Belleville. Buses serving this area will come out of the Hall Street garage in North St. Louis starting in July.

Other proposed service changes are being evaluated. Some could take effect as early as September. One proposal would eliminate the bus to Fairmount Park Racetrack from St. Louis, St. Clair, as well as the Muncy Opera bus serving Alton and Granite City, is being continued for the time being, at least at the insistence of the transit board.

A possible change the transit district manager will evaluate would provide direct service to the Metro-East Lutheran High School in Edwardsville. The bus on the Collinsville-Edwardsville line would be diverted to stop at the high school, she said.

Transit board member Paul Schuler, mayor of Granite City, asked her to also see if it would be feasible to provide service to that high school from Granite City.

In other action Friday: — Transit board chairman Bill Haine of Alton said he would request an immediate study of the feasibility of Bi-State opening a garage in Madison County, since the two in St. Clair County are to be closed.

Haine said such a garage would cut the cost of bus service here by eliminating the dead time that will exist when buses have to come from north St. Louis.

Haine noted that property at Illinois Route 111 and Interstate 270 already has been listed as a possible garage site by Bi-State.

Darryl Thompson of Bi-State said the Ill-270 site has been on the bottom of the priority list for new garages. He added, however, that the Hall Street garage is temporary, making additional garage facilities a necessity.

The board voted to ask Bi-State to make job applications available at all city halls and the county courthouse in Madison County.

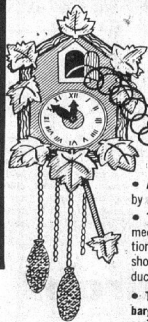

Schuler said he was upset at the present imbalance in the residency of Bi-State employees. St. Clair County has a 498-128 advantage, he said.

Thompson agreed more places are needed since Bi-State's St. Louis office is the best place where job applications may be made.

Operation CARE in effect on Memorial Day weekend

The Illinois State Police will again participate in the National Combined Accident Reduction Effort (Operation C.A.R.E.), during the Memorial Day weekend.

The program, initiated in 1977 by Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio, has been expanded to include all 48 contiguous states. State Police Superintendent R. J. Miller has designated various high accident rate highways and all interstate highways as C.A.R.E. routes.

The program seeks to demonstrate the harmonious interstate cooperation in traffic enforcement and accident reduction between states during high traffic volume national holiday periods.

Through the use of high visibility patrols on all state and interstate highways, the State Police will endeavor to encourage voluntary compliance to all traffic laws, in an effort to reduce the number of traffic fatalities during the Memorial Day Weekend. Troopers will be especially alert for drivers under the influence of alcohol.

Captain Glenn H. Huffman, commander of District 11, stated, "Operation C.A.R.E. gives us a chance to show the public that we care about their safety. We hope all motorists will care enough to slow down and drive safely."

From 6 p.m., May 22 through midnight May 25, free coffee will be served at various rest areas throughout the state, courtesy of the Illinois Department of Transportation and other voluntary organizations such as R.E.A.C.T.

Huffman noted that Illinois traffic fatalities during the 1980 Memorial Day weekend, which covered a four day period totaled 28. It is hoped that number can be reduced in 1981, he concluded.

The king of wines, champagne, reigns not only with a character all its own, but with a retinue which includes its own vocabulary and even its own bottle sizes. Although sparkling wines can be produced anywhere, authentic champagne comes only from the Champagne region, 90 miles east of Paris. Many wines may bear its title, but none share its noble birth. When buying champagne, a knowledge of the language of the realm is helpful. For example, "demi-sec" on the label means sweet. "Sec" means medium sweet, "extra dry" means slightly sweet, "brut" means dry and "nature" means very dry. When speaking of quantity, the king is offered in the split (6 1/2 oz.), the 13 ounce half-bottle, the 26 ounce bottle, the resplendent 52 ounce magnum and the regal 104 ounce jeroboam. Regardless of his noble bearing, the king is a welcome guest in any household.

$35 million more cut from state budget

Governor James R. Thompson announced an additional $35 million in proposed budget cuts Monday for the Fiscal Year 1982 Budget.

The recommendations, which will be made to the General Assembly, will begin Monday for the Fiscal Year 1982 Budget.

The recommendations, which will be made to the General Assembly, will begin Monday for the Fiscal Year 1982 Budget.

Reagan's Economic Recovery Plan last week that these programs will be funded by the federal government," the Governor said.

"These are difficult times that require difficult decisions, but we cannot plan a sound budget based on money that is not going to be there."

Included in the latest round of budget cut recommendations are: $34 million in Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) Title II-D and Title VI programs, which provide public service employment and training.

$200,000 in Economic Development Administration (EDA) 304 program funds, which provide grant and loan guarantees for projects under the Public Works and Development Act.

$700,000 in Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Community Services Administration programs, which provide planning and technical assistance to local governments.

"While we do not want to lose these programs, we must agree that in order to get Illinois and the nation back on a sound fiscal basis, some things have to give," the Governor said.

"It is expected that other programs funded through CETA will continue to be financed by the federal government and will continue in operation in Illinois."

The proposed cuts bring to $253 million the amount of cuts the Governor has recommended that the legislature make in the Fiscal 1982 budget.

Insect stings can be fatal

With the return to outdoor activities this spring comes once again the hazard of bees and wasps.

For most, the venom of a stinging insect hurts and is annoying but is not a serious health problem.

For some, the bee sting can kill. Those are the individuals who are allergic to stings.

Insect stings cause more deaths yearly than snake bites, says the American Medical Association's Handbook of First Aid and Emergency Care.

The most common stinging insects are bees, hornets, wasps, yellow jackets, bumble bees and fire ants.

The stinging causes pain, swelling, redness, itching and burning.

If stung by a honey bee, carefully remove the stinger by gently scraping with a fingernail or finger nail.

Wash with soap and water. Place ice wrapped in cloth or cold compresses on the sting area.

"Soothing lotions such as calamine or a paste of baking soda and a little water are often helpful in relieving discomfort."

Those allergic to insect stings suffer from condition known as anaphylactic shock.

It can occur sometimes from only one sting if the victim has been stung previously.

Insect sting shock symptoms include severe swelling in other parts of the body, such as around the eyes, lips and tongue.

Weakness, coughing or wheezing, severe itching, stomach cramps, nausea and vomiting, anxiety, difficulty in breathing, dizziness, collapse, unconsciousness and hives or rash over the body often follow quickly after the sting.

It is important to open an airway and restore breathing.

Some experts suggest using a tourniquet in severe reactions where life might be at stake.

Emergency insect sting kits available only by prescription sometimes contain a tourniquet. It can be used only if the sting is on an arm or leg.

Don't tie it too tight, and loosen every five minutes until medical help arrives. A watchband or belt can serve as a tourniquet.

Place cold compresses on the sting area.

Keep the victim lying down unless he is short of breath. Then let him sit up.

Keep the victim quiet and comfortable. If a first-aid kit for insect stings is available, use it according to the directions, the AMA says.

6 exemptions

"If we keep Bill 1790, the Board of Review should be given authority to make adjustments so that the person overassessed in 1977 would be able to receive its benefits."

"What are the other exemptions?"
"You may apply for the homestead exemption in January following your 65th birthday (or your spouse's 65th) and it applies to that year's assessments. You pay taxes on that assessment about a year and a half later."

"You must reapply every year. It reduces your assessment $1,500."

"Regardless of your age, if you make improvements on your home which result in a higher assessment, you are eligible for a homestead improvement exemption for the amount of that increased assessment up to $25,000 each year for four years."

"To apply, submit copies of your bills with the appropriate form to the Board of Review."

"The application may be picked up from your local assessor or from the supervisor of assessments office on the first floor of the old Bank of Edwardsville building across the street from the County Courthouse. The address is 101 Parcell St., Edwardsville 62025 and the telephone number is 856-6205. The review board office is at the same address."

"Circuit breaker is a form of direct tax relief, not an exemption of part of one's assessment. This form may be picked up at the county clerk's office on the second floor of the Courthouse, or at most senior citizen centers."

"Circuit breaker provides that if a member of the family is over 65 and the total family income including pension income is under $12,000—or if a family member under 65 is permanently and totally disabled and the total family income is less than $12,000—one may apply to the state of Illinois for a rebate of all or part of his property taxes."

"But circuit breaker does not work just for property owners. Qualified people who rent their homes also may apply to have part of their rent attributable to property taxes refunded."

"A widow disabled or over 65 who neither owns nor rents property, but who lives with her children or in a nursing home, also may apply to have a portion of her sales tax refunded. Most senior centers provide help in filling out the form."

"Let's not forget farm land and farm building exemptions."

"The General Assembly has provided that farm assessments must be made by a different standard."

"Other valuations are based on the value of the property in the marketplace. Farm assessments are based on a complicated formula that considers the value of the land, its productivity and the value of what is produced on the land."

"Also, farm land assessments in 1980 could be increased only eight percent over what they should have been in 1977. Under this formula, farm land is assessed much lower than would otherwise be the case."

"Farm buildings other than the home are assessed on their own value. A dairy barn no longer used wouldn't be assessed. If it were partly used, or used for another purpose, its assessment would be based on that use value. Unfortunately, use value is often quite difficult to set."

"Farm homes are assessed at their fair cash market value, as any other home, and are entitled to the same exemptions as any other residence. Multipliers are also applied to farm homes."

"There also is a veterans' exemption. Some disabled veterans for whom the government supplies housing are entitled to a $30,000 exemption."

"Although they reduce the county's overall assessed valuation to roughly a half dollar, most exemptions are not presented by the Board of Review, which nevertheless points out the cost to administer them."

"Exemptions and direct tax relief are legitimate methods of making social adjustments in our tax structure," Francis believes.

"The homestead exemption and circuit breaker, for instance, help people in their senior years, when income is limited, to remain in their homes. This benefits everyone by bolstering our neighborhoods."

"I personally think that these types of tax relief should be made available to widows who have been homemakers all their lives and who have little ability to earn a living in the job market. But assessment officials cannot make social adjustments in assessments."

"The only people who can do this are our legislators. Those who disagree with some of the present adjustments, or think there should be still other adjustments, may want to let their legislators know of their views."

"I referred earlier to multipliers. A multiplier is a percentage increase in all assessments within an assessment area—a township, or a county. A negative multiplier is a percentage decrease in all assessments within an area."

"The state uses multipliers to bring one county in line with another when it distributes state school funds, highway funds, and public aid. Part of the formulas for state fund distribution depends on the assessed valuation in each county."

"The Board of Review redistributes the state multiplier—it has been 1 for this county for a number of years—between the various townships to bring them to a common level of assessment within the county."

"The goal of these multipliers is a fairer distribution of the tax burden."

Is fairness being achieved?
Review board members agree that it isn't being fully attained, but say they have made a number of procedural changes over the years to move ever closer to their ideal—perfect in property valuation.

French visitors

cheaper than in France and they bought lots of things to take home," Mrs. Alexander commented.

Mrs. Catherine and Mr. and Mrs. Gloriot left for France the first week in May.

About her retirement, Mrs. Alexander said she may continue to work privately as a seamstress at home for a while.

Being French, Blanche enjoys pretty things, dressmaking ("It's in my blood," she says) and cooking delicacies.

Being a Granite City resident for the past 35 years apparently has not diminished her talents in any of these areas, according to her family and former co-workers.

14 deputies form Fraternal Order of Police lodge here

Fourteen members of the Madison County Sheriff's Department have organized a lodge and chartered it with the Fraternal Order of Police, but have gone on record as saying the lodge is for fraternal purposes only and will not be used as a bargaining or negotiating tool.

The group received its charter as the Madison County Sheriff's Department James Abel Memorial Lodge 117 during its first formal meeting Friday evening at the Granite City Moose Lodge.

The chapter was named after the late Granite City sheriff's deputy killed in an on-duty auto accident in Mitchell several years ago. Mr. Abel's father, Bob Abel, operator of Abel's Auto Body, was made an honorary member of the lodge and will receive a copy of its charter.

Deputy Bruce Trotts of Granite City was elected the first president of the lodge. Ted Nizinski of Granite City was selected as vice-president and Don Sonnenberg of Troy was elected secretary-treasurer.

At the meeting, a letter was drafted to Local 526 of the Operating Engineers, which currently is the bargaining agent for the sheriff's deputies, explaining Lodge 117's position on collective bargaining, according to Trotts. It was approved unanimously.

The letter states, "This is to advise you that some members of the Madison County Sheriff's Department have founded a local lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police, known as the James Abel Memorial Lodge 117. The chapter was founded for the purpose of fellowship between the admitted members."

"To clarify some misconceptions printed in the (area) press, we would further advise you that the members present at the initial meeting voted unanimously to publicly state that we are not engaged in collective bargaining for our members. We do not intend to even consider serving as a collective bargaining unit within or for the sheriff's department and will not apply for recognition as a collective bargaining unit with any employee or employer."

The James Abel Memorial Chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police is simply that, a fraternal organization and will remain that way," the letter concludes.

Trotts told the Press-Record that statements made by one of the new group's members and printed in area news media indicated that the new FOP chapter may try to introduce some "FOP-type ideas into the next contract." Trotts said the statement is inaccurate and the county has enough labor problems with the current dispute between the Teamsters and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees for representation of county employees without introducing a new bargaining agent into the situation.

He said the sheriff's deputies will continue to be represented by Operating Engineers Local 526, Mitchell. "We are happy with the Operating Engineers and with our contract and do not intend to change that," Trotts said.

ADDRESS IN ERROR
The Granite City Council has passed a condemnation ordinance for property at 2912 Roosevelt Ave., not 2913 Roosevelt. A previous report that 2913 Roosevelt, a vacant lot, was to be razed, were in error, the owner reported Friday and city officials confirmed that there had been an error.

Flowers & Gifts

by Ron

The beginner often wonders how many different colors to use in an arrangement. In general, unless one is putting together one of those old-fashioned bountiful bouquets, it is best to limit the selection to two or three. Just as a fine painting always has a characteristic color, an arrangement usually is predominantly of one color. To this is added a smaller amount of a second color along with a dash of a third color to provide a nice balance. The dash is usually strong and vibrant and very likely will provide a focal point for the arrangement.

Our designers can handle arrangements for all types of occasions. Take the time to come in and talk to us at BETTY AND BOB'S FLOWERS AND GIFTS, 2156 Pontoon Road, 877-8833 for all your needs. Michael Gerbois, one of our custom designers, tell him the colors you would like and he can handle the rest. Delivery is available within the Granite City area. Open: 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Mon. thru Sat.

FLOWER TIP:
For harmony and balance, arrange colors in related groupings rather than spotting them polka-dot fashion all over the arrangement.
